Thank You

The flowers at Putnoe Heights Church this week have been given by Christina and Maurice Halsey in loving memory of their granddaughter Davine Stuart.

The flowers at St Mark's Church this week have been given by Lynne & Noel Seymour to celebrate the Christening of Cameron George Anderson Holl, the safe arrival and addition to our family of Cleo Rae Benney and to celebrate the 35th Wedding Anniversary of Lynne & Noel.

Welcome

We especially welcome to our service at St Mark's
the family and friends of Cameron George Anderson Holl who has been brought for baptism.

Prayer for Today

Above all things, O Lord, let us rejoice in your presence.
Let our hearts love you and let our mouths proclaim you.
Let our souls hunger for you and let our whole being desire you;
until we are one with you,
for you are God, blessed for ever. Amen.

Ordinary 19

Sentence of Scripture — 1 John 4:18

There is no fear in love. But perfect love drives out fear, because fear has to do with punishment. The one who fears is not made perfect in love. We love because he first loved us.

Collect Prayer for the Day

Before we read we pray Let your merciful ears, O Lord, be open to the prayers of your humble servants; and that they may obtain their petitions make them to ask such things as shall please you; through Jesus Christ your Son our Lord, who is alive and reigns with you, in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, now and for ever. Amen.

Common Worship

Keep your lamps burning, like men waiting for their master to return Jesus

First Reading— Isaiah 1:1,10-20

The vision of Isaiah son of Amoz, which he saw concerning Judah and Jerusalem in the days of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah. Hear the word of the LORD, you rulers of Sodom; listen to the law of our God, you people of Gomorrah! "The multitude of your sacrifices-- what are they to me?" says the LORD. "I have more than enough of burnt offerings, of rams and the fat of fattened animals; I have no pleasure in the blood of bulls and lambs and goats. When you come to appear before me, who has asked this of you, this trampling of my courts? Stop bringing meaningless offerings! Your incense is detestable to me. New Moons, Sabbaths and convocations—I cannot bear your evil assemblies. Your New Moon festivals and your appointed feasts my soul hates. They have become a burden to me; I am weary of bearing them. When you spread out your hands in prayer, I will hide my eyes from you; even if you offer many prayers, I will not listen. Your hands are full of blood; wash and make yourselves clean. Take your evil deeds out of my sight! Stop doing wrong, learn to do right! Seek justice, encourage the oppressed. Defend the cause of the fatherless, plead the case of the widow. "Come now, let us reason together," says the LORD. "Though your sins are like scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they are red as crimson, they shall be like wool. If you are willing and obedient, you will eat the best from the land; but if you resist and rebel, you will be devoured by the sword." For the mouth of the LORD has spoken.

(This is the word of the Lord -- Thanks be to God)

Second Reading — Hebrews 11:1-3. 8-16

Now faith is being sure of what we hope for and certain of what we do not see. This is what the ancients were commended for. By faith we understand that the universe was formed at God's command, so that what is seen was not made out of what was visible. By faith Abraham, when called to go to a place he would later receive as his inheritance, obeyed and went, even though he did not know where he was going. By faith he made his home in the promised land like a stranger in a foreign country; he lived in tents, as did Isaac and Jacob, who were heirs with him of the same promise. For he was looking forward to the city with foundations, whose architect and builder is God. By faith Abraham, even though he was past age--and Sarah herself was barren--was enabled to become a father because he considered him faithful who had made the promise. And so from this one man, and he as good as dead, came descendants as numerous as the stars in the sky and as countless as the sand on the seashore. All these people were still living by faith when they died. They did not receive the things promised; they only saw them and welcomed them from a distance. And they admitted that they were aliens and strangers on earth. People who say such things show that they are looking for a country of their own. If they had been thinking of the country they had left, they would have had opportunity to return. Instead, they were longing for a better country--a heavenly one. Therefore God is not ashamed to be called their God, for he has prepared a city for them.

(This is the word of the Lord - Thanks be to God)

Gospel Reading – Luke 12:32-40

"Do not be afraid, little flock, for your Father has been pleased to give you the kingdom. Sell your possessions and give to the poor. Provide purses for yourselves that will not wear out, a treasure in heaven that will not be exhausted, where no thief comes near and no moth destroys. For where your treasure is, there your heart will be also. "Be dressed ready for service and keep your lamps burning, like men waiting for their master to return from a wedding banquet, so that when he comes and knocks they can immediately open the door for him. It will be good for those servants whose master finds them watching when he comes. I tell you the truth, he will dress himself to serve, will have them recline at the table and will come and wait on them. It will be good for those servants whose master finds them ready, even if he comes in the second or third watch of the night.

But understand this: If the owner of the house had known at what hour the thief was coming, he would not have let his house be broken into. You also must be ready, because the Son of Man will come at an hour when you do not expect him." (This is the word of the Lord . Thanks be to God)

Commentary

Our Gospel reading today begins with the words 'Don't be afraid.' Jesus spends a lot of time telling people not to worry or be anxious, he knows what we are like. The disciples are told not to worry about their daily bread, now they are told not to worry about kingdom inheritance. He calls them 'little flock' an Old Testament reference and a reminder that he is the shepherd who will lead his sheep where they need to go.

It is a human thing to try and accumulate and the more that we do so the safer, more confident we will be about the future. Jesus now encourages his disciples to dispose of their goods, 'Sell that which you have and give gifts to the needy.'

This is completely counter intuitive. Last week we heard the parable of the rich fool who would tear down his barns and build bigger ones for his large harvest. Jesus called him, and people like him, fools because they "store up treasure for themselves, but are not rich in what matters to God" (12:21).

We return today to talk about money and treasure. Jesus instructs us how we can have an "inexhaustible treasure in heaven," which is indestructible and not subject to decay by selling and disposal rather than by purchase and acquisition.

Luke, both in this Gospel and in the book of Acts, emphasizes the virtue of charity (Luke 3:10-11; 6:38; 10:33-35; 11:41; 19:8; Acts 6:1-4; 10:4; 11:29-30; 20:35). He also tells how the first disciples exchanged private ownership for common ownership (Acts 2:44-46; 4:32-37). It is a radically faith-filled approach to money and property. None of this makes sense apart from faith that God has already established the kingdom and has invited us to begin life under Kingdom Rules. Since the giving of alms generates treasure in heaven, the wise person will give generously. The gift of earthly things which are subject to theft and decay, builds an investment in heaven - a purse that does not wear out.

Jesus' concern for the poor and oppressed flows throughout Luke. In his inaugural address in the synagogue in Nazareth (4:14ff), he quotes from Isaiah and announces that he has been sent "to bring glad tidings to the poor" (4:18). His healing powers benefit the poor, the oppressed and those shunned by society, lepers, the woman with the hemorrhage, the sinful woman, the dead, etc.

Jesus' miracles and teaching stress the importance of the poor for his disciples. As we read today, his followers are to be detached from possessions, "sell your belongings and give alms." He chose his disciples from the poor and outcast and sends them on mission, not dependent on their own possessions, but with the assurance that the Father has already given them the kingdom. They are, unlike the rich fool of last week's gospel, already "rich in what matters to God."

Jesus reminds his disciples that a concern for property closes us to God's call. "For where your treasure is, there also will be your heart." When wealthy people entered the early church they shared their wealth to help the poor. Jesus taught that the rich, who are attached to their possessions and detached from the poor around them, would not sit at the eschatological banquet – but the poor and outcast would (14:16-24).

Today's parable focuses on Jesus' return and the need for our fidelity and preparedness as we wait. The master is returning from a wedding. In light of the marriage customs of the time, the master could be returning with his bride. This would make the master's actions even more startling. The custom would mean celebration and feasting upon the couple's arrival. The servants should have been prepared, not just with a quick bite to eat, but with a major celebration.

Jesus has exhorted his disciples not to be afraid because their needs are in God's hands. Then he shifts to urging watchfulness, faithful service, preparedness for his expected coming.

The parable surprises us. Normally we expect servants to wait on masters and mistresses, but when this master comes and knocks he hitches up his robes and invites the servants to the table and then serves them! The Messiah has come, Jesus says, to serve us and not be served.

If we had been reading the King James Version of the Bible today we would have remembered the words of Luke not as 'be dressed ready', but rather as 'Let your loins be girded about, and your lights burning'

The reference to girded loins recalls the passover experience of the early Hebrews (Ex 12:11). Girded loins means fastening your clothes in such a way that you wouldn't trip over them if running, or get caught up in them if working. It's an expression meaning heightened anticipation and readiness for action. The early Hebrews girded their loins because they could smell freedom. Be like that, Jesus says.

Not only must loins be girded, lamps must be burning! The lamp in our photograph today is an original from about the time of Jesus which I photographed in a roman villa. The thing which amazes me is that they ever managed to keep these alight at all. The important feature of oil lamps - as opposed to our electric lights is that oil lamps require constant attention. Wicks must be trimmed and oil replenished, even a well-maintained lamp takes time to light and constant care and attention. So it should be with us, a constant state of preparedness, living the Kingdom.

Be like those who wait for "their lord (kurios)" coming from the wedding banquet. The word kurios is used twice (12: 36, 37) and clearly refers to Jesus in each case. Moreover, he is coming from a wedding banquet, an event of great festivity and gaiety. Indeed, the wedding banquet is an important biblical symbol for the Great Banquet at the end of time (Is 25:6, Rev. 19: 7-9).

The Lord is not grim-faced as he "comes and knocks." He will not come with a fearsome accounting of one's misdeeds. He will not come with pious exhortations to try harder. He will not come to put anyone in their place. Quite the contrary. He's coming from a party. He has a spring in his step and a song in his heart. To those who are watching for him, "he will gird (himself)"--that is, he too is in a condition of heightened anticipation and readiness for action--except that, in his case, his action will be to "sit down with them, and drawing near, will serve them"! Charles Royden

Meditation

When you have watched tennis at Wimbledon or seen a football or rugby match on the television you will doubtless have marvelled at the precision of the stripes cut into the grass; so straight and so even. But have you ever tried doing it yourself? A lot of modern mowers don't do stripes but if you have got one with a cylinder you are likely to have tried and to have been disappointed with the result. It is incredibly difficult to achieve stripes that are both straight and equal in width. The secret of the straight line is not to look at the mower to see what you are doing but to fix your eyes on a point beyond the edge of the lawn and keep walking towards that point. You never reach the chosen point but it has a tremendous impact on the way you cut the grass. In the epistle for today the writer of Hebrews shows how faith in God lay behind all the achievements of the great figures in Jewish history. "All these people were still living by faith when they died. They did not receive the things promised, they only saw them and welcomed them from a distance (Hebrews 11:13) Living by faith means living as if you are cutting the lawn; knowing where you want to get to and keeping your eyes fixed on that point. In this life you will never get there but the values and attitudes taught by Jesus, the determination to get closer to God will have influenced everything you do. People who know where they are going will always achieve more than those who have no aim in life. Jeremy Arthern

Prayers for Sunday

Eternal God, in Christ you make yourself our guest. Amid all our cares and concerns make us attentive to your voice and alert to your presence, that we may prize your word above all else; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

O God, you are the light of the minds that know you, the life of the souls that love you, and the strength of the wills that serve you; help us so to know you that we may truly love you, so to love you that we may fully serve you, whom to serve is perfect freedom; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Augustine of Hippo (354-430)

Knit my soul to your own, O Christ, so that I may never be separated from you. Only in you am I a person fully alive. Only in your light can I see and only in your strength can I pursue my way. To you I come, O wisdom without end. In you I rest, O mercy without limit. To you I give all praise, O crown of all majesty. Amen Mechtild of Magdeburg, 1210-80

Park carefully near St Deny’s Church (OS Map ref. 108586) or alternatively along Honeydon Road where there is a marked path back to the church. Further details contact Pam or Ray 01234 305695.”

Highland Fling

On August 14 John and Janet Day are setting off for the Scottish Highlands in their 1929 MG to participate in an MG gathering based at Aviemore and will attempt to cover 1400 miles in ten days. It will be a considerable challenge to complete the rally in such an ancient car and they anticipate some adventures along the way! They are seeking sponsorship for this epic journey with all proceeds being donated to St John’s at Moggerhanger. If you would like to sponsor their “Highland Fling” there is an official form in the foyer. Very many thanks.

Action for Children September House to House Collection

Action for Children has a 140 year history of working with children, young people and parents living in tough circumstances. Today it does this through its family centres located throughout the UK including North Bedfordshire. It is an independent charity working with other groups in partnership including Social Services and the Methodist Church where it has its roots.

Our annual house-to-house Collection to support this vital work will take place as usual in the first 2 weeks in September. St. Mark’s Church is responsible for covering the Brickhill area and last year our 13 collectors raised £572 (inc. Gift Aid). If you could spare a few hours during early September to distribute and then collect envelopes in the Brickhill area, perhaps near to where you live, or you would like some more information then please contact me. Our Mission Appeal 2013. This year will be launched at harvest. We will be joining the St Albans Diocese in funding a project in Ethiopia that is teaching farmers about better beekeeping methods. Our gifts will make a real difference. New beehives and improved beekeeping skills are having a life-changing impact on people and communities in Ethiopia. Bees are vital pollinators; flying from flower to flower, they make connections that are fundamental to the life of our planet.

The Bishop's Harvest Appeal is a wonderful opportunity to celebrate our connected world and to make lifechanging, loving and lasting connections with people in Ethiopia.
