Thank You

The flowers at Putnoe Heights this week have been given by Betty Wren in memory of her mother.

The flowers at St Marks this week have been given by Jan Cooper and family in memory of Jan and Peter's wedding anniversary.

We are always grateful for any donations for flowers perhaps to celebrate a special occasion, an anniversary or in memory of a loved one. Please contact Miss Marion Prior 303254 (St Mark's) or Miss Jennie Cooper 404950 (Putnoe Heights) or add your name to the rota in the foyers.

Prayer for Sunday

Let us love you, O God, with a heart that you have made for yourself, with a mind that you alone can satisfy, with a soul that longs for your presence and with a strength spent in serving you all our days.

Usurp our hearts, fill our minds, lift our souls and be our strength, now and for ever.
Amen.

Walter Howard Frere, 1863-1938

Second Sunday of Epiphany

Opening Verse - Psalm 29

The LORD is enthroned as King forever. The LORD gives strength to his people; the LORD blesses his people with peace.

Collect Prayer for the Day

Eternal Father, who at the baptism of Jesus revealed him to be your Son, anointing him with the Holy Spirit: grant to us, who are born again by water and the Spirit, that we may be faithful to our calling as your adopted children; through Jesus Christ your Son our Lord, who is alive and reigns with you, in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, now and for ever. Amen. Common Worship

First Bible Reading - Isaiah 42: 1-9

"Here is my servant, whom I uphold, my chosen one in whom I delight; I will put my Spirit on him and he will bring justice to the nations. He will not shout or cry out, or raise his voice in the streets. A bruised reed he will not break, and a smouldering wick he will not snuff out. In faithfulness he will bring forth justice; he will not falter or be discouraged till he establishes justice on earth. In his law the islands will put their hope." This is what God the LORD says-- he who created the heavens and stretched them out, who spread out the earth and all that comes out of it, who gives breath to its people, and life to those who walk on it: "I, the LORD, have called you in righteousness; I will take hold of your hand. I will keep you and will make you to be a covenant for the people and a light for the Gentiles, to open eyes that are blind, to free captives from prison and to release from the dungeon those who sit in darkness. "I am the LORD; that is my name! I will not give my glory to another or my praise to idols. See, the former things have taken place, and new things I declare; before they spring into being I announce them to you."

(This is the word of the Lord - All: Thanks be to God)

Second Bible Reading - Acts 10: 34-43

Then Peter began to speak: "I now realize how true it is that God does not show favouritism but accepts men from every nation who fear him and do what is right. You know the message God sent to the people of Israel, telling the good news of peace through Jesus Christ, who is Lord of all. You know what has happened throughout Judea, beginning in Galilee after the baptism that John preached-- how God anointed Jesus of Nazareth with the Holy Spirit and power, and how he went around doing good and healing all who were under the power of the devil, because God was with him. "We are witnesses of everything he did in the country of the Jews and in Jerusalem. They killed him by hanging him on a tree, but God raised him from the dead on the third day and caused him to be seen. He was not seen by all the people, but by witnesses whom God had already chosen--by us who ate and drank with him after he rose from the dead. He commanded us to preach to the people and to testify that he is the one whom God appointed as judge of the living and the dead. All the prophets testify about him that everyone who believes in him receives forgiveness of sins through his name."

(This is the word of the Lord - All: Thanks be to God)

Third Reading -- Matthew 3: 13-17

Then Jesus came from Galilee to the Jordan to be baptized by John. But John tried to deter him, saying, "I need to be baptized by you, and do you come to me?" Jesus replied, "Let it be so now; it is proper for us to do this to fulfill all righteousness." Then John consented. As soon as Jesus was baptized, he went up out of the water. At that moment heaven was opened, and he saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove and lighting on him. And a voice from heaven said, "This is my Son, whom I love; with him I am well pleased."

(Reader: This is the Word of the Lord. All: Thanks be to God)

Post Communion Prayer

Lord of all time and eternity, you opened the heavens and revealed yourself as Father in the baptism of Jesus your beloved Son: by the power of your Spirit complete the heavenly work of our rebirth through the waters of the new creation; through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Commentary Agnus Dei

Taken from the Blog of Rev Ross Royden, printed with permission. Ross keeps a weekly blog which can be accessed from www.thisischurch.com

I hope that you have all recovered now from the festivities of Christmas and the New Year and are settling well into 2008! Here in Hong Kong and China, of course, we are now getting ready for what is a much bigger celebration in terms of the effort that goes into it, that is, Chinese New Year. Not having liturgical significance, this is a celebration I rather enjoy!

At the moment, however, I am preparing for the sermon on Sunday and it has led me down some interesting paths. I am going to be preaching on the Gospel reading from John 1:29 specifically John the Baptist's words: 'Behold, the Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world.' The Lamb motif, the Agnus Dei, is in effect the logo of Christ Church, Kowloon Tong. We have it as a mosaic outside our church and it appears on our literature. This was something I inherited when I came here and have been more than happy to use.

In the past, I have spent some time looking up its use historically in attempt to understand where the symbol originally came from. Fifth century Rome seems the most likely answer, although it only comes to prominence in sources from the ninth century onwards. It was later widely used by the Knights Templar during the Crusades. What I have been wondering this week, however, is why it was adopted by Christ Church. True, the Lamb represents Christ and we are Christ Church, but I have been at many Christ Churches and it has not been used in this way by them. I have started to enquire into its usage here and interestingly no-one seems to know when, or why, it came to be used. Enquiries are on going and I will let you know! Does it matter? Not at all. This is just one of those fun things that it is nice to know!

Perhaps more interesting is something that I uncovered in an essay by Richard Bauckham in his recent book: The Testimony of the Beloved Disciple. He discusses the use of gematria in St John's Gospel. Gematria is where a numerical value is assigned to a word. In Hebrew and Greek, he writes, the letters also represented numbers. Similarly, we sometimes do this in English with A having the value of 1, B equalling 2, and so on. He cites an interesting piece of graffiti from Pompei: 'I love the girl whose number is 545'. That is, the girl the letters of whose name add up to 545.

Gematria is also behind the number of the Beast in the book of Revelation. In Revelation 13:18 it says: 'This calls for wisdom: let anyone with understanding calculate the number of the beast, for it is the number of a person. Its number is six hundred sixty-six.'

The writer is telling his readers who the Beast is. It most likely is the Emperor Nero. The sum of the letters Nero Caesar written in Hebrew is 666. Why this is interesting as I prepare for Sunday is that, according to Bauckham, in Hebrew the numerical value for the name 'Jesus' and for the 'Lamb of God' are the same, that is, 391. To quote Bauckham:

So when John the Baptist sees Jesus and says, 'Behold the Lamb of God' (1:29, 35-36), he is interpreting the name Jesus by gematria.

Does it matter? Not at all. This is just one of those fun things that it is nice to know!

Much more important is the question of what it means to say that Jesus is the Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world. The use of gematria that I have just referred to shows that the ancient Biblical writers used techniques with which we are not immediately familiar nowadays. This means that we miss things that would have been obvious to the first readers. But it isn't just in the area of literary techniques that we run into problems.

The sacrifice of animals was a familiar practice in the ancient world. At Passover Jews in Jerusalem sacrificed lambs in their thousands. This is not something we do or understand the point of. In fact, we rather regard the whole business as barbaric and primitive. This makes understanding the concept of Jesus as the Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world also hard to understand. Indeed, it perhaps why some modern day Christians recoil from the idea of Jesus being a sacrifice for sin. As one recent writer puts it: 'isn't the idea of God sacrificing his Son a form of cosmic child abuse?'

We live in different worlds in more ways than one. The problem is that because we think we are more advanced than them in scientific and technological ways, we are also more advanced theologically. This is cultural and historical arrogance. We are back to the fact that God chose this time, 2,000 years ago, to give the supreme revelation of himself, the Word made flesh, as we have just celebrated. If we believe this, we are going to have to swallow our pride and accept that in this conceptual world we find so foreign, lie truths that are timeless and eternal, and which we ignore or dismiss at our peril.

Agnus Dei, qui tollis peccata mundi, miserere nobis.
Agnus Dei, qui tollis peccata mundi, miserere nobis.
Agnus Dei, qui tollis peccata mundi, dona nobis pacem.

Meditation

Jesus asks John to baptize him "to fulfill all righteousness." The word righteousness is not easily understood, and sometimes we are put off by connotations of 'self-righteousness.' It might be used of people who think a bit too much of themselves! However I have heard the word used recently in some American films where it is given a new meaning. When somebody is said to be 'righteous' it means that they can be trusted and are faithful to their friends.

We need to remember that the righteousness of God is a good thing, it is not judgemental and superior. We don't have to make ourselves right with God; we don't have to spend our lifetime "paying God back" for our sins and making amends for our past; we don't have to grovel to get God on our side; we don't have to say endless prayers to convince some angry god to yield to our urgent needs. The voice affirming Jesus as God's "beloved son" was God's stamp of approval on Jesus. Hence forth, what he proclaimed in words and actions about God's love for us could be trusted. His message is that we don't have to make God love us. God already does. We don't have to push and shove to move God to our side. God is already standing with us. Jesus is proof-positive of where God is in our lives. Jesus, Matthew tells us, is Emmanuel, God with us. Jesus' life and death assure us that we don't have to earn God's righteousness, God has given it to us.

Hymns (Please distribute morning worship and Hymns and Psalms)

1. When morning gilds the skies 276 (Tune Laudes Domini)
2. This is the day 578
3. Christ when for us you were baptised 129 (Tune Saint Magnus)
4. When Jesus came to Jordan (Tune Cruger) 132
5. Thou whose almighty word 29 (Tune Moscow)

Prayers for Sunday and the Week Ahead

May God the Father, and the eternal High Priest Jesus Christ, build us up in faith and truth and love, and grant us our portion among the saints with all those who believe on our Lord Jesus Christ. We pray for all saints, for kings and rulers, for the enemies of the cross of Christ, and for ourselves we pray that our fruit may abound and we be made perfect in Christ Jesus our Lord. Polycarp.

Glorious God, give me grace to amend my life and to have an eye to mine end without grudge of death, which to them that die in thee, good Lord, is the fate of a wealthy life.

Give me, good Lord, a full faith, a firm hope and a fervent charity, a love to thee incomparable above the love to myself.

Give me, good Lord, a longing to be with thee, not for the avoiding of the calamities of this world, nor so much for the attaining of the joys of heaven, as for the very love of thee

Thomas Moore, from a prayer written a few days before his execution

Jesus, by your wounded feet direct our path. Jesus, by your nailed hands move us to deeds of love. Jesus, by your pierced side purify our desires. Jesus, by your crown of thorns annihilate our pride. Jesus by your broken heart, knit ours to yours. Amen. Richard Crawshaw, 1613-49

Lent Books

Sam Cappleman reflect upon book for Lent

Easter comes very early this year; Ash Wednesday will be with us on 6 February, and the time of Lent that falls in between Ash Wednesday and Easter offers us an opportunity to pause and reflect on our spiritual journey. Some people find Lent books helpful in their reflections and perhaps these brief outlines of some of the diverse books available will encourage you to pick up a book to guide you through Lent, perhaps for the first time. The prices are those on the books I have so they may have changed slightly since the time of their publication.

Sacred Space for Lent 2008: Jesuit Communication Centre, Ireland £1.99 This book, which was written specifically for 2008 is ideal for those with very limited time. It offers a different outline of prayer each week, which can then be used each day of that week together with a short daily reading and two short comments. However, just because the scripture readings, comments and prayers are quite short, don't expect them to be any the less challenging on the journey through Lent.

The Matthew Passion: John Fenton £5.99

Written by a notable scholar of Matthew this book, John Fenton takes the reader through Matthew's gospel with daily readings and comments. Each day there are three short sentences which form a prayer which sums up the essence and challenge of the passage. Matthew is the lectionary gospel this year and this book would be ideal for those wanting to gain a deeper insight into Mathew's gospel for the year ahead.

Lenten Prayers for Busy People: William O'Malley SJ £9.99 This is possibly my favourite book for Lent. It offers a collection of prayer and readings for Lent which are grouped into morning, daytime and evening reflections for each day. Passages are selected not only from the bible but from writers and poets as diverse as John Donne, C S Lewis, Thomas Merton and Bob Dylan. It is perhaps a little American but is none the less an excellent book to give a broader perspective on our Lenten pilgrimage. It has the sub title as 'A forty day retreat wherever you happen to be', a highly appropriate title as we travel towards Easter.

When They Crucified My Lord: Brother Ramon SSF £6.99

Brother Ramon was an Anglican Franciscan Friar until his death in June 2000 and wrote extensively on contemporary spirituality. This is a book which is designed for people who perhaps have more time to spend each day reading and reflecting on a Lent book, the book suggests up to one hour per day. It offers a passage of scripture, some comments, a prayer and a refection for each day, drawing insight from those who were present that first Easter. It is a deep, and in many places, a profound book with the insights that would be expected from a writer such as Brother Ramon.

Oh God, Why?: Gerard W Hughes £5.99

Subtitled as 'A journey through Lent for bruised pilgrims', this Lent book is perhaps a great book to use if you have not used a Lent book before. It opens up with a description of what is happening in Lent, the true meaning of penance, and describes some different ways in which to pray. Each day there is a passage from scripture, a comment and a prayer that can be used which reflects on the essence of the days material. Drawing parallels with the Jewish Passover in the preface, Hughes highlights that Lent is not just a commemoration of a past event, but a celebration of the present reality of God in our lives.

The Return of the Prodigal Son: Henri J M Nouwen £8.95

Not so much a book of daily readings and reflections as a book to be read through Lent and there is now a CD course based on this book for Lent groups. A chance encounter with Rembrandt's painting, 'The return of the prodigal son', Nouwen, a fellow Dutchman, shares his personal meditation that led him to discover the place within which God had chosen to dwell. It's a story of a homecoming, and one which is deeply profound, typified by the epilogue at the end of the book entitled, 'Living the painting'.

Pray, Love, Remember: Michael Mayne £7.95

Michael Mayne is Dean Emeritus of Westminster, and in the foreword by Alan Bennett, Bennett suggests that this book is a Lenten book which is not a dutiful read with the devotional instruction arising from the illumination and reflection on Mayne's ministry. Pray, Love, Remember, three words which sum up the essence of the Christian life, offers insightful and reflective material which is broken up into weekly sections and is perhaps the most literary of the books reviewed here.

Rest In Peace

On the Sunday following a funeral service we remember in church those who have died. We light a candle to symbolise the light of Christ which eternally shines and brings hope. If you would like a person remembered in our service when the candle is lit, perhaps on an anniversary or birthday, please inform the ministers, or telephone the church office

Elsie Purser

May the souls of all the faithful departed through the mercy of God, rest in peace and rise in glory. Amen.

Rest in Peace
