We are grateful when people make donations towards flowers perhaps to celebrate a special occasion such as an anniversary or in memory of a loved one. Please contact Miss Marion Prior 303254 (St Mark's) or Ann Hitt 404186 (Putnoe Heights) or add your name to the rota in the foyers.

A Prayer for Sunday

Praise to you, our Lord and our God, for the jewel of our sight, the treasure of our hearing and the glory of our speech. Pardon our ingratitude and teach us to render you a thankful heart. Open our eyes to your glory, our ears to your word and our mouths to proclaim your goodness; both now and forever. Amen.

Ordinary 16

Opening Verse of Scripture - Ephesians 3, 18-19

May you, in company with all God's people, be strong to grasp what is the breadth and length and height and depth of Christ's love.

Collect Prayer

Before we read we pray

Merciful God, you have prepared for those who love you such good things as pass our understanding: pour into our hearts such love toward you that we, loving you in all things and above all things, may obtain your promises, which exceed all that we can desire; through Jesus Christ your Son our Lord, who is alive and reigns with you, in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, now and for ever. Common Worship

First Bible Reading - Jeremiah Chapter 23:1-6

"Woe to the shepherds who are destroying and scattering the sheep of my pasture!" declares the LORD. Therefore this is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says to the shepherds who tend my people: "Because you have scattered my flock and driven them away and have not bestowed care on them, I will bestow punishment on you for the evil you have done," declares the LORD. "I myself will gather the remnant of my flock out of all the countries where I have driven them and will bring them back to their pasture, where they will be fruitful and increase in number. I will place shepherds over them who will tend them, and they will no longer be afraid or terrified, nor will any be missing," declares the LORD. "The days are coming," declares the LORD, "when I will raise up to David a righteous Branch, a King who will reign wisely and do what is just and right in the land. In his days Judah will be saved and Israel will live in safety. This is the name by which he will be called: The LORD Our Righteousness. (This is the word of the Lord. All: Thanks be to God)

Second Reading - Ephesians 2:11 - 22

Therefore, remember that formerly you who are Gentiles by birth and called "uncircumcised" by those who call themselves "the circumcision" (that done in the body by the hands of men)--remember that at that time you were separate from Christ, excluded from citizenship in Israel and foreigners to the covenants of the promise, without hope and without God in the world. But now in Christ Jesus you who once were far away have been brought near through the blood of Christ. For he himself is our peace, who has made the two one and has destroyed the barrier, the dividing wall of hostility, by abolishing in his flesh the law with its commandments and regulations. His purpose was to create in himself one new man out of the two, thus making peace, and in this one body to reconcile both of them to God through the cross, by which he put to death their hostility. He came and preached peace to you who were far away and peace to those who were near. For through him we both have access to the Father by one Spirit. Consequently, you are no longer foreigners and aliens, but fellow citizens with God's people and members of God's household, built on the foundation of the apostles and prophets, with Christ Jesus himself as the chief cornerstone. In him the whole building is joined together and rises to become a holy temple in the Lord. And in him you too are being built together to become a dwelling in which God lives by his Spirit. (This is the word of the Lord. All: Thanks be to God)

Gospel Reading - Mark 6:30-34,53-56

The apostles gathered round Jesus and reported to him all they had done and taught. Then, because so many people were coming and going that they did not even have a chance to eat, he said to them, "Come with me by yourselves to a quiet place and get some rest." So they went away by themselves in a boat to a solitary place. But many who saw them leaving recognised them and ran on foot from all the towns and got there ahead of them. When Jesus landed and saw a large crowd, he had compassion on them, because they were like sheep without a shepherd. So he began teaching them many things.

Later, when Jesus and his disciples had crossed over the lake again, they landed at Gennesaret and anchored there. As soon as they got out of the boat, people recognised Jesus. They ran throughout that whole region and carried the sick on mats to wherever they heard he was. And wherever he went - into villages, towns or countryside - they placed the sick in the market-places. They begged him to let them touch even the edge of his cloak, and all who touched him were healed (This is the Word of the Lord All: Thanks be to God)

Post Communion Prayer

Eternal God, comfort of the afflicted and healer of the broken, you have fed us at the table of life and hope: teach us the ways of gentleness and peace, that all the world may acknowledge the kingdom of your Son Jesus Christ our Lord.

Commentary

I would like us think about the passage from Mark today when we read that Jesus sees the crowd and regards them as 'sheep without a shepherd'. We are told that Jesus has compassion on the crowds. Sheep without a shepherd are obviously in danger, they can be attacked and they can get lost, they are vulnerable to predators and confused in the face of danger.

If we think about the opening chapters of the Gospel we can get an idea of why Jesus felt such a burden of responsibility towards the ordinary men and women who came to him. We have been told about what was going on in the palace of the King Herod. He was having parties, entertaining rich guests and you will remember that after watching a young girl dance he is willing to do anything including murder, killing the cousin of Jesus a good prophet called John the Baptist. The religious leaders were no better, they pretended to be holy people but all they were concerned about was their own power and positions in society. They took every opportunity to remind Jesus of God's laws and criticised him when he stepped out of line. When Jesus entered the synagogue he saw a man with a withered hand and the Pharisees watched him closely to see if Jesus would break the law and heal the man on the Sabbath. We are told that Jesus was angry at their hard hearts and he healed the man. Mark tells us that Herod and the religious leaders joined together and decided early on that they must destroy Jesus.

So here the battle lines are drawn, the great and good and the religious ones, against the carpenter Jesus who was on the side of the poor, the powerless and those who had been led to believe that they were of no consequence to God.

Mark contrast the religious leaders who really couldn't care for people, because they had these hard hearts, and Jesus who we are told today looked at the ordinary people and had compassion. Jesus has compassion on the crowd, because he said that they were "like sheep without a shepherd" (v. 34). Jesus was not a soft touch for everyone, but for people in need he always had time and compassion.

When Jesus says that the people are "sheep without a shepherd" this is clearly a rebuke on the religious leaders of Jesus' day, who have failed in their shepherd role. It was because of their failure that Jesus knew a special shepherd was needed, one who cared for the sheep more than simply thinking of his own needs, that shepherd was Jesus. These words "sheep without a shepherd" as they are written in Mark's Gospel would have reminded the people at the time of when Moses asked God to appoint someone to succeed him as leader of the people. (Numbers 27) God chose Joshua, the name means 'YHWH (God) is Salvation.' The Greek form of that name, 'Iesous', is known to us as Jesus.

Our reading from Jeremiah sees God's promise "...I will raise up a righteous shoot to David." God promises not to abandon his people and those promises are fulfilled in Jesus. Jesus is the fulfilment of all the expectations of the people and all the promises of God, for a shepherd who was worthy of the name. Indeed, in Jesus, God provided the ultimate in the caring shepherd, one who would be willing to lay down his life for the sheep.

Like the Pharisees we too can be resentful that Jesus goes to the lost, not to shout at them and tell them to repent but to show them compassion. When we get alongside the lost of society we want to put them on programmes, courses and rehabilitation to make them like us. Jesus doesn't do that, Jesus went and sought the company of sinners, bad people, and when he found them he didn't shout at them he ate with them and made them know that they were loved by God.

That is a profound mystery to the self-righteous but it does teach us something about grace and forgiveness. It is not ours to be earned even through faith. We are sought out and saved by God. We often hear about the lostness of the human soul and the need to be sorry and God welcoming us back when we do, but this rather misses the point. The whole point about a good shepherd is that they will become exhausted and go to any lengths to find what is his and has been lost. That is what God is like God is not going to give up, God is relentless and will leave no stone unturned looking for that which has gone astray.

This compassionate nature of God is what causes to sing about 'a love that wilt not let me go.' This is why the illustration of a shepherd is such a good one, looking for errant sheep is what shepherds do, they go and put themselves in danger looking for stupid sheep who don't even know they have gone astray. Jesus said "The Son of Man came to seek out and save the lost." The Shepherd searches because the sheep is lost! It is the nature of God to seek out the lost, because they are valuable to him. We need to hear this and remind ourselves that we have value, importance to God. There are occasions when people use the expression, 'I found Jesus.' This is really not true is it? We should say 'Jesus found me'. If we say, 'I found Jesus' then that is ridiculous. The sheep doesn't go looking for the shepherd, the sheep doesn't even know it is lost. Charles Royden

Meditation Christ Has No Body Teresa of Avila (1515–1582)

Christ has no body but yours,
No hands, no feet on earth but yours,
Yours are the eyes with which he looks
Compassion on this world,
Yours are the feet with which he walks to do good,
Yours are the hands, with which he blesses all the world.
Yours are the hands, yours are the feet,
Yours are the eyes, you are his body.
Christ has no body now but yours,
No hands, no feet on earth but yours,
Yours are the eyes with which he looks
compassion on this world.
Christ has no body now on earth but yours.

Prayers Lord, we gather here this morning with lives that are filled with activity and movement. We rush from one thing to another as though we are going to run out of time to accomplish everything. Help us to let go of the hectic times and the stresses and find our rest in you. Relax our spirits and refresh our souls. Remind us that there will always be things to do and places to go, but that we need the rest of spirit that you provide. AMEN.

Lord, be merciful to your people. Fill us with your gifts and make us always eager to serve you in faith, hope, and love. Grant this through our Lord Jesus Christ, your Son, who lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit, one God, for ever and ever. Amen.

O God, you are the light of the minds that know you, the life of the souls that love you, and the strength of the wills that serve you; help us so to know you that we may truly love you, so to love you that we may fully serve you, whom to serve is perfect freedom; through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Augustine of Hippo (354-430)

St. Theresa of Avila lived in Spain in the days of Martin Luther (1515-1582). She entered a Carmelite convent in 1535 and was beset by illness and poor health most of her life there. She began to receive mystical visions, many of which were disturbing, but was helped to discern God's voice in them

Something to think about

Radical change is required, the Archbishop of Wales, Dr Barry Morgan, said on Friday, after the publication of a wide-ranging review of the Church in Wales. The review, commissioned a year ago, was chaired by the former Bishop of Oxford, Lord Harries. The review team consulted widely: it held meetings in all six Welsh dioceses, which, together, were attended by more than 1000 people. It received written submissions; and it held meetings with senior clergy, bishops' advisers, ordinands, and staff from St Michael's College, Cardiff. It also met a delegation of young people.

The report's recommendations include: replacing parishes with much larger "ministry areas" served by a team of clergy and laypeople; using church buildings for multiple purposes; training laypeople to take more leadership roles; and increasing the range of worship, in order to "resonate with those unfamiliar with church culture".

Dr Morgan said that many "internal reports" had already been conducted about the state of the Church in Wales, but, "because they come from inside, the Church has taken them seriously but refused to act on them". Dr Morgan said: "I sense our Governing Body has reached a point where it knows that things can't stay as they are."

The reasons for a review, listed in the report, include "the expected retirement of large numbers of clergy in the next few years, the shortage of ordinands, the joining of more parishes than can be adequately ministered to by a single priest, declining church membership, and the almost total distance of young people in Wales from the Church".

The report continues: "One overwhelming impression we have received is that the Church in Wales continues to have the structure and organisation appropriate to an established Church 100 years or so ago, but which is now stretched beyond what it can or should properly bear now."

The review team argues that the parish system, "with a single priest serving a small community is no longer sustainable. . . A change of perspective is needed: from parish to a much larger area, and from a single priest, to a team with different gifts."

The report proposes replacing parishes with larger "Ministry Areas", led by a "leadership team containing laypeople as well as clergy". Each Ministry Area might contain "25 congregations or churches", each of which should have "a designated leader and ministry team". To address the serious shortage of young people in the Church - in 2010, just 5067 people under the age of 18 attended services on a Sunday - "there should be one trained worker appointed in each leadership team with a particular ministry to reach out to young people."

Also, in each Ministry Area there should be at least one service a week "in which the form and style of worship is such as will resonate with those unfamiliar with Church culture".

The congregations in each Ministry Area, should be self-sustaining, "responsible for raising enough money at least to cover the full costs of its own ministry team, and an appropriate proportion of diocesan costs". Dr Morgan said: "We need to give the laity more confidence that this is their Church. They are the majority. Let's think a bit bigger; let's not be so parochially minded."

These challenges are not limited to the Church in Wales and we all need to share in thinking about how we can best be the church in a changing society

Hymns for Sunday

- 1 I rejoiced to hear them say,
'Come and worship God today!
Come, with heart and mind and soul,
seek the peace that makes us whole;
see disordered lives restored in the presence of the Lord:
from your burdens find release;
in his presence there is peace.'
- 2 Here in gratitude we bring all we are to serve our King;
his forgiveness we entreat in whom love and justice meet bring our needs to him in prayer, ask his help, and trust his care;
join with all, in every place,
who have sought and known his grace.
- 3 God, the Lord of peace, is near - come in faith, and meet him here; let each restless soul be still, glad to know and do his will:
as a city's walls and towers offered safety - God is ours!
Therefore we rejoice, and say,
'Come and worship God today!'
- 1 The Lord's my shepherd, I'll not want.
He makes me lie in pastures green.
He leads me by the still, still waters,
His goodness restores my soul.
And I will trust in You alone.
And I will trust in You alone,
For Your endless mercy follows me,
Your goodness will lead me home.
- 2 He guides my ways in righteousness,
And He anoints my head with oil,
And my cup, it overflows with joy,
I feast on His pure delights. Refrain

Rest In Peace

On the Sunday following a funeral service we remember in church those who have died. We light a candle to symbolise the light of Christ which eternally shines and brings hope. If you would like a person remembered in our service when the candle is lit, perhaps on an anniversary or birthday, please inform the ministers, or telephone the church office.

May the souls of all the faithful departed through the mercy of God, rest in peace and rise in glory. Amen.'

- 3 And though I walk the darkest path,
I will not fear the evil one,
For You are with me, and Your rod and staff
Are the comfort I need to know. Refrain
- 1 Jesus heard with deep compassion pleas for healing, cries of pain, cured the lame and cleansed the leper, gave the blind their sight again.
At his voice tormenting spirits fled a madman's tortured mind; clothed and sane, he went rejoicing home and family to find.
- 2 Jesus touched the lives of outcasts, weak or sinful, scorned or poor, gave them self-respect and courage, trust and faith and hope secure.
Truly hearing, truly seeing deep within each troubled soul, Jesus healed their wounded spirits, sent them forth with lives made whole.
- 3 Jesus, Lord, our true example,
you have shown how we must live.
Teach us how to share with others everything we have to give.
Let our days be spent in service;
bring us by your grace to know healing is the church's calling and the path that we must go.

Tough Talking

God's reign is already present on our earth in mystery. When the Lord comes, it will be brought to perfection. That is the hope that inspires Christians. We know that every effort to better society, especially when injustice and sin are so ingrained, is an effort that God blesses, that God wants,
that God demands of us.

Archbishop Oscar Romero, March 24 1980

These were the last words of Oscar Romero, said at a hospital Mass shortly before an assassin entered via a back door and shot him.
