Easter 5

Introductory Sentence - Galatians Chapter 3:28

There is neither Jew nor Greek, slave nor free, male nor female, for you are all one in Christ Jesus

Collect Prayer for the Day— Before we read we pray

Almighty God, who through your only-begotten Son Jesus Christ have overcome death and opened to us the gate of everlasting life: grant that, as by your grace going before us you put into our minds good desires, so by your continual help we may bring them to good effect; through Jesus Christ our risen Lord. Common Worship

First Reading — Acts 11 v 1 – 18

The apostles and the brothers throughout Judea heard that the Gentiles also had received the word of God. So when Peter went up to Jerusalem, the circumcised believers criticised him and said, You went into the house of uncircumcised men and ate with them. Peter began and explained everything to them precisely as it had happened: I was in the city of Joppa praying, and in a trance I saw a vision. I saw something like a large sheet being let down from heaven by its four corners, and it came down to where I was. I looked into it and saw four-footed animals of the earth, wild beasts, reptiles, and birds of the air. Then I heard a voice telling me, 'Get up, Peter. Kill and eat.' I replied, 'Surely not, Lord! Nothing impure or unclean has ever entered my mouth.' The voice spoke from heaven a second time, 'Do not call anything impure that God has made clean.' This happened three times, and then it was pulled up to heaven again. Right then three men who had been sent to me from Caesarea stopped at the house where I was staying. The Spirit told me to have no hesitation about going with them. These six brothers also went with me, and we entered the man's house. He told us how he had seen an angel appear in his house and say, 'Send to Joppa for Simon who is called Peter. He will bring you a message through which you and all your household will be saved.' As I began to speak, the Holy Spirit came on them as he had come on us at the beginning. Then I remembered what the Lord had said: 'John baptised with water, but you will be baptised with the Holy Spirit.' So if God gave them the same gift as he gave us, who believed in the Lord Jesus Christ, who was I to think that I could oppose God? When they heard this, they had no further objections and praised God, saying, So then, God has granted even the Gentiles repentance unto life.

(This is the word of the Lord -- Thanks be to God)

Second Reading - Revelation Chapter 21:1-6

Then I saw a new heaven and a new earth, for the first heaven and the first earth had passed away, and there was no longer any sea. I saw the Holy City, the new Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God, prepared as a bride beautifully dressed for her husband. And I heard a loud voice from the throne saying, "Now the dwelling of God is with men, and he will live with them. They will be his people, and God himself will be with them and be their God. He will wipe every tear from their eyes. There will be no more death or mourning or crying or pain, for the old order of things has passed away." He who was seated on the throne said, "I am making everything new!" Then he said, "Write this down, for these words are trustworthy and true." He said to me: "It is done. I am the Alpha and the Omega, the Beginning and the End. To him who is thirsty I will give to drink without cost from the spring of the water of life."

(This is the word of the Lord -- Thanks be to God)

Gospel Reading – John 13:31-35

When he was gone, Jesus said, "Now is the Son of Man glorified and God is glorified in him. If God is glorified in him, God will glorify the Son in himself, and will glorify him at once. My children, I will be with you only a little longer. You will look for me, and just as I told the Jews, so I tell you now: Where I am going, you cannot come. A new command I give you: Love one another. As I have loved you, so you must love one another. By this all men will know that you are my disciples, if you love one another."

(This is the word of the Lord –Thanks be to God)

"I am the Alpha and the Omega," says the Lord God, who is and who was and who is to come, the Almighty.
Revelation 1.8

Post Communion Prayer

Lord God our Father, through our Saviour Jesus Christ you have assured your children of eternal life and in baptism have made us one with him: deliver us from the death of sin and raise us to new life in your love, in the fellowship of the Holy Spirit, by the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Commentary

Reinhold Niebuhr, was asked if he could name the time and place of his salvation, his answer was "2,000 years ago on a dusty hill named Golgotha outside Jerusalem's wall." The point is clear, it was then that Jesus gave to us the most visible demonstration of God's enduring love for humankind. Christians believe that God took human form and died for his creation, bringing forgiveness even to those who drove nails through his flesh and pronouncing 'Father forgive them for they know not what they do'. It was an act of supreme divinity and shows that God's love transcends all barriers and is not restricted even towards those who hate and murder the most beautiful example of human life which has ever been lived. It is for this reason that we can say that love is fashioned in the shape of the cross. It shows to us that the embrace of God stretches to all of humankind.

This lesson was not understood immediately by the first Christians and we see this in our reading from Acts today. At first the community who followed Jesus were conscientious Jews who followed the Bible, our Old Testament. It restricted their membership to those were born and ritually inducted into Judaism. Early believers in Jesus therefore needed to be circumcised, to eat kosher, they needed to be good Jews. Then there was a transformation in which some of these first believers realised that God's embrace extended far wider than they had understood. This Revelation came to Peter after he had a vision of God telling him to eat meat which was specifically forbidden in Leviticus as being unclean. Peter believed that he had learned from God that nothing he had created was unclean. Immediately following this world changing revelation Peter was invited to Caesarea to the home of the centurion Cornelius, a Roman—not a Jew. It was a truly momentous occasion, Peter tells Cornelius that it was against the Jewish law for him to associate with a gentile like Cornelius. Previously Jews like him believed that God commanded them to keep away from impure or unclean people. However Peter now realised that this was wrong, there was no such thing as unclean people. God did not make impure or unclean. In the words of Peter

'I now realise that God does not show favouritism, but accepts people from every nation who fear him and do what is right.' (Acts 10:34).

Ever since this early revelation the Christian church has been open to gentiles. However progress has not been easy and from the outset there was controversy amongst the apostles themselves over this openness, just as we have often struggled to be as open as Peter. We have at times fallen back and considered that God really did make some people less pure than others, the racial prejudice of the church is a good example. It is a sad fact that Peter himself even after this revelation subsequently lacked courage when confronted by James and the believers from Jerusalem. We read in Galatians 2:12 that the Apostle Paul publicly rebuked Peter for bowing to pressure to reject the gentile outsiders. Paul was furious that Peter and his friends withdrew from fellowship with the gentile believers and Paul tells us that the reason Peter did so was because he was 'afraid.'

We know that subsequently Peter learned his lesson, but it is a lesson which all of us need to learn again and again. We must all be prepared to risk the criticism of others and stand up for what we know to be right. Peter knew that the scriptures which we now call the Old Testament had to be revised in the light of the new laws which came from the cross of Jesus. If Jesus could forgive those who butchered him, then a new world was being created in which God welcomes every person from any nation. No longer could people be divided into clean and unclean. Perhaps we should all this week ask ourselves, 'who do I think of as impure or unclean. How have I distorted the all embracing, sacrificial love of God? If we seek to live in the love of God, we are not in a position to impose requirements that keep out those whom God's love includes. Charles Royden

Meditation

God, give me grace to accept with serenity
the things that cannot be changed, courage to change the things which should be changed, and the wisdom to distinguish the one from the other.
Living one day at a time,
enjoying one moment at a time,
accepting hardship as a pathway to peace,
taking, as Jesus did,
this sinful world as it is,
not as I would have it,
trusting that You will make all things right,
if I surrender to Your will,
so that I may be reasonably happy
in this life,
and supremely happy with You forever in the next.

Amen.

Attributed, Reinhold Niebuhr (1892-1971)

Prayers for Sunday and the Week Ahead

Alpha and Omega, you make your home with us, you dry our tears and quench our thirst, you are the tender love that welcomes all people. Like a mother, you nurture your children, giving them life, teaching them to love. Come and dwell among us, and make all things new. Amen.

God of all people, our hearts are too narrow, our perspectives are too small. We reject those who are not like us — those who disagree with us. We forget that all are your beloved children, and neglect your call to love one another. Forgive us, O God, for the many ways we have failed to be a people known by our love. Show us how to be more caring. Teach us how to love one another, and make us faithful disciples. Amen.

God of love, hours before he was betrayed and arrested, our Lord Jesus commanded that his disciples must love one another. Make this our first thought and intent. Fill your church with the gift of your abiding grace.

God of love you desire that humanity should dwell together in unity and peace. Heal us of the anger and bitterness in which violence and hatred breed. Teach us the way of self-giving love.

God of love you challenge us to embrace a broad community. Silence the narrowness of our charity. Give us a heart to praise you in thought and deed.

God of love you show compassion and mercy to all your children. Embrace in your love all who cry for relief in their suffering. Revive our longing hearts.

God of love, in the resurrection of Christ Jesus you open to all people the gates of your New Jerusalem. Welcome to your heavenly city all who have died. Take away the heartache of grief and replace it with the joy of your eternity. Amen.

Poem Prayer

Taken from the book of poetry called Leavings (2012), by Wendell Berry

"I know that I have life only insofar as I have love.

I have no love except it come from Thee.

The Gift of Grace

"Everything is a grace because everything is God's gift," said St Thérèse of Lisieux. This is just one of the quotations to be found in A Gift of Grace - the latest addition to the popular A Gift of series. The beautiful booklet combines scripture, poetry, quotations, hymns and reflections to explore the theme of grace.

"God's grace is surprising, exciting and subversive," said the Revd Dr Mark Wakelin, President of the Methodist Conference, "but it can also be gentle and understated. A Gift of Grace offers us the opportunity to reflect on this gift and to consider how we might pass it on to one another as a sign of God's love." A Gift of Grace is designed for churches and individuals to give away to their friends, neighbours and communities, but is also ideal for small-group or personal reflection.

Charles R Swindoll is among those quoted in the booklet, saying: "Grace has to be the loveliest word in the English language. It embodies almost every attractive quality we hope to find in others. Grace is a gift of the humble to the humiliated. Grace is a gift of tender mercy when it makes the least sense."

Other contributors include the Revd Ruth Gee, the President-Designate of the Methodist Conference, Julian of Norwich and Dietrich Bonhoeffer.

Joint statement from the Archbishops of Canterbury and Westminster, Justin Welby and Vincent Nichols, concerning the ongoing violence in Syria Since the very first days of the Syrian conflict in March 2011, we have prayed as we watched in horror and sorrow the escalating violence that has rent this country apart. We have grieved with all Syrians - with the families of each and every human life lost and with all communities whose neighbourhoods and livelihoods have suffered from escalating and pervasive violence. And today, our prayers also go with the ancient communities of our Christian brothers and sisters in Syria. The kidnapping this week of two Metropolitan bishops of Aleppo, Mar Gregorios Ibrahim of the Syriac Orthodox Church and Paul Yazigi of the Greek Orthodox Church of Antioch, and the killing of their driver while they were carrying out a humanitarian mission, is another telling sign of the terrible circumstances that continue to engulf all Syrians. We unreservedly support these Christian communities, rooted in and attached to the biblical lands, despite the many hardships. We respond to the call from the Greek Orthodox Patriarchate of Antioch and all the East, and the Syriac Orthodox Patriarchate of Antioch and all the East, urging churches worldwide to remain steadfast in the face of challenging realities and to bear witness to their faith in the power of love in this world. We both continue to pray for a political solution to this tragic conflict that would stem the terrible violence and also empower all Syrians with their fundamental and inalienable freedoms. We also call for urgent humanitarian aid to reach all who are suffering. We pray that Syria can recapture its tradition of tolerance, rooted in faith and respect for faiths living side by side

Rest In Peace

On the Sunday following a funeral service we remember in church those who have died. We light a candle to symbolise the light of Christ which eternally shines and brings hope. If you would like a person remembered in our service when the candle is lit, perhaps on an anniversary or birthday, please inform the ministers, or telephone the church office.

Jeanne Ann Setchell

May the souls of all the faithful departed through the mercy of God, rest in peace and rise in glory. Amen.'
