Gracious Father,

Evermore give us this bread,
that he may live in us, and we in him;

Bible Notes, Lent 1 (29 February 2004: Year C, Purple)

Opening Verse of Scripture Psalm 91:1

They who dwell in the shelter of the Most High will rest in the shadow of the Almighty.

Collect Payer for the Day - Before we read we pray

Almighty God, whose Son Jesus Christ fasted forty days in the wilderness, and was tempted as we are, yet without sin: give us grace to discipline ourselves in obedience to your Spirit; and, as you know our weakness, so may we know your power to save; through Jesus Christ your Son our Lord, who is alive and reigns with you, in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, now and for ever. Amen

First Bible Reading Deuteronomy Chapter 26 v 1 - 11

When you have entered the land that the LORD your God is giving you as an inheritance and have taken possession of it and settled in it, take some of the firstfruits of all that you produce from the soil of the land that the LORD your God is giving you and put them in a basket. Then go to the place that the LORD your God will choose as a dwelling for his Name and say to the priest in office at the time, I declare today to the LORD your God that I have come to the land that the LORD swore to our forefathers to give us. The priest shall take the basket from your hands and set it down in front of the altar of the LORD your God. Then you shall declare before the LORD your God: My father was a wandering Aramean, and he went down into Egypt with a few people and lived there and became a great nation, powerful and numerous. But the Egyptians ill-treated us and made us suffer, putting us to hard labour. Then we cried out to the LORD, the God of our fathers, and the LORD heard our voice and saw our misery, toil and oppression. So the LORD brought us out of Egypt with a mighty hand and an outstretched arm, with great terror and with miraculous signs and wonders. He brought us to this place and gave us this land, a land flowing with milk and honey; and now I bring the firstfruits of the soil that you, O LORD, have given me. Place the basket before the LORD your God and bow down before him. And you and the Levites and the aliens among you shall rejoice in all the good things the LORD your God has given to you and your household. (This is the word of the Lord -- Thanks be to God)

Second Reading Romans Chapter 10 v 8b – 13

The word is near you; it is in your mouth and in your heart, that is, the word of faith we are proclaiming: That if you confess with your mouth, Jesus is Lord, and believe in your heart that God raised him from the dead, you will be saved. For it is with your heart that you believe and are justified, and it is with your mouth that you confess and are saved. As the Scripture says, anyone who trusts in him will never be put to shame. For there is no difference between Jew and Gentile-- the same Lord is Lord of all and richly blesses all who call on him, for, Everyone who calls on the name of the Lord will be saved. (This is the word of the Lord -- Thanks be to God) (This is the word of the Lord -- Thanks be to God)

Gospel Reading Luke Chapter 4 v 1 – 13

(When announced - Glory to Christ our Saviour)

Jesus, full of the Holy Spirit, returned from the Jordan and was led by the Spirit in the desert, where for forty days he was tempted by the devil. He ate nothing during those days, and at the end of them he was hungry. The devil said to him, If you are the Son of God, tell this stone to become bread. Jesus answered, It is written: 'Man does not live on bread alone.' The devil led him up to a high place and showed him in an instant all the kingdoms of the world. And he said to him, I will give you all their authority and splendour, for it has been given to me, and I can give it to anyone I want to. So if you worship me, it will all be yours. Jesus answered, It is written:

'Worship the Lord your God and serve him only.' The devil led him to Jerusalem and had him stand on the highest point of the temple. If you are the Son of God, he said, throw yourself down from here. For it is written: 'He will command his angels concerning you to guard you carefully; they will lift you up in their hands, so that you will not strike your foot against a stone.' Jesus answered, It says: 'Do not put the Lord your God to the test.' When the devil had finished all this tempting, he left him until an opportune time. (Praise to Christ our Lord)

Post Communion Prayer

Lord God, you have renewed us with the living bread from heaven; by it you nourish our faith, increase our hope, and strengthen our love: teach us always to hunger for him who is the true and living bread, and enable us to live by every word that proceeds from out of your mouth; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen

Hymns (Please distribute Holy Communion and Mission Praise)

2. He that is in us, 219
3. Forty days and forty nights, 160

Commentary

Lent is the time in the church year where we are offered space for reflection and repentance. Sin is a part of all of our lives and none of us are strangers to temptation. Like Jesus, we are most vulnerable to the twisting, distorting forces of evil at those times where we are also most open to God. If Jesus had not been so consumed with passion for the hungry, the oppressed and those who have not experienced the power of God, the devil's proposals to Him would not have been the least bit tempting. But He was, and the resources that He had in those stark wilderness days can be ours as well.

The temptation of Jesus was for the sole purpose of distracting him from His ultimate goal and purpose in life, which was to die on the cross as the atoning sacrifice for humanity. As he tries to distract Christ from this goal Satan tempts Jesus in three different ways. He tempts Him to concentrate on His physical needs, he tempts Him to take moral shortcuts, and he tempts Him to focus on Himself rather than His Father God. Temptations which assail us all from one time or another.

Jesus was able to resist temptation because he was clear about His purpose and destiny and was able to focus on knowing and doing the will of the Father who had sent Him into the world. For Jesus and for every Christian, overcoming temptation is not just about knowing what not to do, it's about knowing what we should be doing, about the fulfilling to the best of our human ability the purpose and destiny God has marked out for each one of us. Lent offers us a time reflection when we can draw near to God, through fasting, reading and prayer so that we can know more certainly what that purpose and will might be for our lives. One of the prayers we use on Ash Wednesday invites us to use the time of Lent as a time of holy observance, a time that is different from the rest of the Christian year, a time to reflect on the purpose of our own spiritual journey. It's also a time which leads inexorably to the cross and the resurrection beyond, a time to look forward to an Easter which gives the ultimate meaning to our lives as the stone is rolled away and the world looks into an empty tomb. From Lent we look beyond to Easter. As we look into ourselves in Lent, we see the temptations we have succumbed to, we see the things in our lives which we need to repent of, see the things in our lives which we need to get sorted out, but beyond all those we are able to see the God who is in each one of us through the glory of a resurrected Christ. Sometimes we just don't spend enough time looking and stop before we see His glory in our inner selves. Sam Cappleman

Meditation.

At sometime in our lives each one of us has probably had one or more desert experiences - times of loneliness, disillusionment, emptiness, and spiritual dryness; times of change, decision, transition, and struggle. Times when we wonder what God's calling, and our faith, are all about. Times when we seemingly have no other option but to wait until God's direction for us begins to unfold. Jesus begins his ministry with exactly this experience. A time of loneliness, reflection, discernment, transition and struggle. Thankfully, the Spirit of God that accompanied Jesus in the wilderness accompanies each of us in our desert experiences too. And just as for Jesus, our desert experiences, however painful, can be a time of discovery and growth. A time that draws us into God's presence, offering us an opportunity to discern once again what it is that God is asking of us each in this short, earthly journey. A time, as Evelyn Underhill writes, 'when we can have a secret correspondence of the soul.' Sam Cappleman

Prayers for Sunday and the Week Ahead

Almighty and everlasting God, you hate nothing that you have made and forgive the sins of those who are penitent: create and make in us new and contrite hearts that we, lamenting our wretchedness, may receive from you, the God of mercy, perfect remission and forgiveness; through Jesus Christ your Son our Lord, who is alive and reigns with you, in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, now and for ever. Amen

Lord, Jesus Christ, help us to fashion in these Lenten days a season of inner redemption and holiness. Again and again, may we use these days to come quietly into your presence ever open to your prompting, ever ready to serve you and ever ready to reflect your coming Easter glory. Amen

Teach us, O God, so to use this season of Lent that we may be drawn closer to our Lord, and in fellowship with Him may learn to hate sin, to overcome temptation, and to grow in holiness that our lives may be strengthened for your service and used for your glory. We ask this in Christ's name. Amen

Christ give you grace to grow in holiness, to deny yourselves, take up your cross and follow Him; and the blessing of God Almighty, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit, be among you and remain with you always. Amen

A Film for Easter?

Mel Gibson's new film The Passion of the Christ opened in the US this week on Ash Wednesday, a month ahead of its release in the UK on 26 March. The film is expected to net up to $25 million in its first week. The Passion's official website is selling "crucifixion nails" as jewellery, inscribed with the Bible verse, "He was pierced for our transgressions." The website also offers ideas about ways in which the film can be used in evangelism.

Some American Evangelicals have seized upon the film with enthusiasm: the website of the National Association of Evangelicals urges its members to "make this the largest opening film in history". But the film has also been criticised as over-bloody and anti-Semitic. It depicts Christ's sufferings in the 12 hours before his death in graphic detail.

Growing to Overcome Learning Disabilities. It is with great sadness that we report that GOLD will be closing next month at both of our Church Centres. Changes in the way statutory government funding is allocated mean that the group will not be able to operate any longer. The costs involved in salaries are considerable and a decision was required quickly and unexpectedly, to enable the group to meet all of its liabilities regarding redundancy etc. The decision will affect all of the groups including the prison creche at St Peter's.

We have worked alongside GOLD now for about 10 years and we have all benefited and been enriched in so many ways by the staff and members. Whilst we are sorry that the groups must be closed, nevertheless we are grateful for all that has been achieved after so many years of commitment by the staff and volunteers. This has been one of the most worthwhile charities which we have supported and we will greatly miss everybody connected with GOLD.

Bloody views

"The camera lingers on the bloodiness of every aspect. Some of these scenes are in slow motion and they are horrific," said the Revd Geoff Crago, communications officer for Gloucester diocese, after seeing a special screening of the film in the US last week.

"We are all meant to feel the guilt of all our sins — we are the cause of every one of those lashes, every blow of the hammer as the nails pierce his hands," he said. He did not think it would bring many people to faith "It's not saying the sort of things I believe are right for presenting the gospel in the 21st century." Mel Gibson is a traditionalist Roman Catholic, who, it is claimed, looks back to a time before Vatican II liberalised many Roman Catholic views, and before the Council declared that the Jewish people were not collectively responsible for Christ's death

Our own Diocesan Communications Officer Mr Peter Crumpler said 'I found the controversial Mel Gibson film, 'The Passion of the Christ' to be intensely moving, very well produced and extremely violent. It communicates well the physical torture endured by Christ. It is largely scriptural and very powerful. It is difficult to see how claims that it is anti-Semitic can be substantiated.' Why not write a review for Partnership News?
