Prayer for the Week

Lord and giver of life,
you alone nourish
and sustain your people,
through Christ,
the bread of life.
Feed our hunger
and quench our thirst,
that we may no longer work
for what fails to satisfy,
but do what you require,
in obedience and faith;
through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen

Ordinary 18

Opening Verse of Scripture – Psalm 145:3

Great is the LORD and most worthy of praise; his greatness no one can fathom. One generation will commend your works to another; they will tell of your mighty acts. They will speak of the glorious splendour of your majesty, and I will meditate on your wonderful works.

Collect Prayer (Before we read we pray)

Gracious God, your Son Jesus Christ fed the hungry with the bread of life and the word of your Kingdom. Renew your people with your heavenly grace, and in all our weakness sustain us by your true and living bread, even Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen

When Jesus landed and saw a large crowd, he had compassion on them and healed their sick.

First Bible Reading – Genesis 32: 22-31

That night Jacob got up and took his two wives, his two female servants and his eleven sons and crossed the ford of the Jabbok. After he had sent them across the stream, he sent over all his possessions. So Jacob was left alone, and a man wrestled with him till daybreak. When the man saw that he could not overpower him, he touched the socket of Jacob's hip so that his hip was wrenched as he wrestled with the man. Then the man said, "Let me go, for it is daybreak." But Jacob replied, "I will not let you go unless you bless me." The man asked him, "What is your name?" "Jacob," he answered. Then the man said, "Your name will no longer be Jacob, but Israel, because you have struggled with God and with humans and have overcome." Jacob said, "Please tell me your name." But he replied, "Why do you ask my name?" Then he blessed him there. So Jacob called the place Peniel, saying, "It is because I saw God face to face, and yet my life was spared." The sun rose above him as he passed Peniel, and he was limping because of his hip.

(This is the Word of the Lord — Thanks be to God)

Second Reading - Romans 9: 1-5

I speak the truth in Christ—I am not lying, my conscience confirms it in the Holy Spirit—I have great sorrow and unceasing anguish in my heart. For I could wish that I myself were cursed and cut off from Christ for the sake of my brothers, those of my own race, the people of Israel. Theirs is the adoption as sons; theirs the divine glory, the covenants, the receiving of the law, the temple worship and the promises. Theirs are the patriarchs, and from them is traced the human ancestry of Christ, who is God over all, forever praised! Amen.

(This is the Word of the Lord — Thanks be to God)

Gospel Reading - Matthew 14: 13-21

(When the Gospel is announced: All: Glory to God our Saviour)

When Jesus heard what had happened, he withdrew by boat privately to a solitary place. Hearing of this, the crowds followed him on foot from the towns. When Jesus landed and saw a large crowd, he had compassion on them and healed their sick. As evening approached, the disciples came to him and said, "This is a remote place, and it's already getting late. Send the crowds away, so they can go to the villages and buy themselves some food." Jesus replied, "They do not need to go away. You give them something to eat." "We have here only five loaves of bread and two fish," they answered. "Bring them here to me," he said. And he directed the people to sit down on the grass. Taking the five loaves and the two fish and looking up to heaven, he gave thanks and broke the loaves. Then he gave them to the disciples, and the disciples gave them to the people. They all ate and were satisfied, and the disciples picked up twelve basketfuls of broken pieces that were left over. The number of those who ate was about five thousand men, besides women and children

(This is the Gospel of Christ –All: Praise to Christ our Lord)

Post Communion Prayer

Lord God, whose Son is the true vine and the source of life, ever giving himself that the world may live: may we so receive within ourselves the power of his death and passion that, in his saving cup, we may share his glory and be made perfect in his love; for he is alive and reigns, now and for ever. Amen

Commentary

The reading today begins with the phrase, 'when Jesus heard what had happened.' This is the context for the passage, and it casts a shadow over events. Herod had thrown a feast, it was a truly dreadful meal, for the only thing mentioned as being on a platter was the head of John the Baptist. We do not know who attended, but we can be certain it was the privileged few, the rich and the famous. Consider then this meal of the narrow invitation list, the presence of the powerful and the overwhelming mood of hate and bitterness, eventually bringing an outcome of the death of a righteous man. Then reflect upon the contrasting meal of Jesus which now occurs in the passage today. Unlike Herod, Jesus opens up the invitation list to all. We are told that the meal is held not in a palace but in a 'remote place.' The guests of Jesus do not incline on couches, Jesus invites them to sit on the grass. Now which meal would you have wanted to attend? The feast of Herod surrounded by hatred, or the feast of Jesus filled with compassion? The feast of Jesus is not a sumptuous feast, but "all ate and were filled."

Let's look deeper at this miraculous feeding, we know it is important because it is the only miracle which all four gospels record every Gospel writer tells us about Jesus performing a miraculous feeding. There is a feeding of the Five Thousand in Matthew 14:13-21, Mark 6:32-44, Luke 9:12-17 and John 6:1-14. There are some variations in details in the accounts, for example in John we read that the food used belonged to a boy. Then there is the Feeding of the Four Thousand in Matthew 15:32-39 and Mark 8:1-10. There are also separate accounts in Matthew and Mark of another feeding miracle. It seems reasonable to assume that there must have been more than one miracle if the same person recorded it twice. Remember though that numbers are not important, indeed in our story we can see that the 5,000 referred only to the men, so there might have been over 10,000 fed!

It is important to note the feeling which Jesus had for the crowd, it was one of compassion. Everybody would have heard of the death of John the Baptist at that dreadful feast. Jesus and those around him were upset and understandably Jesus we read that Jesus in his grief takes time to go to a solitary place to be alone in his grief. Yet when he sees the need of others around he offers his help freely. He thinks of others before himself. Perhaps there is a lesson for how we should expect to respond to adversity ourselves. We too are most blessed when we care for others, perhaps even especially when we place our own woes to one side and concentrate on how we can give rather than receive.

If we were to put ourselves into the position of the crowd themselves, then they would very much have appreciated this compassion. They had lost a leader and they would have felt bereaved, afraid and lacking in hope for the future. We feel the same from time to time, perhaps we are fearful of the future, or grieving over lost opportunities. It may be that we wonder how we can cope with the relationships we have with our families or others, our job, or indeed the Christian witness to which we feel called. Perhaps we are frightened by the challenge of life which God has laid before us? We should do well to remember that this is a feeling which the disciples shared- many times, and Jesus looks with compassion.

Jesus clearly wants to feed the crowd and cares for their physical needs. However a call upon the available resources reveals only five loaves and two fish. Clearly there would need to be much more to feed those present. The action of Jesus is to bless the resources which are brought to him and then to send them out. This is an interesting visual demonstration of how Jesus uses his disciples. We bring our meagre resources and we offer them to him, he blesses what we have, however inadequate for the task and then sends us out to do his work. When we offer our meagre resources to God and he blesses them we can know that God will change the value of them and increase their worth. It doesn't matter how small or insignificant we think our gift is, when Jesus blesses what we offer it becomes a powerful tool in his hands.

The result is miraculous. Now in spite of the old commentaries which suggested that this was a miracle of sharing, or a holy communion in which they were spiritually not physically fed, we cannot escape the fact that the story is presented as a miracle of growth. We know this because we are told clearly that there were twelve baskets left over. We should remember that twelve was an important number. The gospel writer would have wanted to make the point that there were enough baskets to have one for each disciple, one for each tribe of Israel.

The message is clear that when we trust in the mercy of God there is enough and more to go around, there are indeed leftovers. The abundance of God's mercy does not disappoint, he fulfils his promises. We can know that there will always be sufficient for us if we trust in God. God is generous with us. This may be a difficult message for us to grasp. Why does Jesus make more wine than they actually need, did he have to make so many jars of wine? Why did the woman have to lavish perfume on Jesus, and would half a bottle not have been sufficient? The answer is no, Jesus is generous and we are called not to be resentful of such abundance but to do the same. Charles Royden

Meditation

Today we learn about the sharing of food. In the midst of their need, Jesus leads the disciples and the people in an unexpected and wonderful sharing of abundance. In this sharing, God is encountered. "Eucharist" is experienced. This spirit of abundance and sharing is a challenge to the greed, selfishness and profit seeking which dominate parts of our culture. The spirit behind the gospel challenges us and challenges the worst parts of our way of doing things. Food and water are more than just products to be bought and sold. The gospel is about more than just giving out food. Jesus does more than just "magically" create food. He calls a community into life. He calls the disciples into reflection and action on their situation in solidarity with everyone who is gathered. On behalf of the community, Jesus expresses gratitude and faith in God. He gets people to sit down and share. Food is passed from person to person. Everyone partakes of the abundance. Everyone has enough to eat. Instead of the hoarding of the leftovers, the people gather up what remains. Our gospel is a gospel of solidarity and empowerment. We are called to put this gospel into practice by creating a community of charity and justice for all. In the last year food prices have gone up all over the world, especially in places where people are the poorest. Not everyone is getting enough to eat. What would Jesus do in that situation? What would Jesus call us to do in our global situation?

At a time of world food shortage, of financial turmoil, of old and new forms of poverty, of disturbing climate change, of violence and deprivation which force many to leave their homelands in search of a less precarious form of existence, of the ever-present threat of terrorism, of growing fears over the future, it is urgent to rediscover grounds for hope. Let no one draw back from this peaceful battle that has been launched by Christ's Resurrection. For as I said earlier, Christ is looking for men and women who will help him to affirm his victory using his own weapons: the weapons of justice and truth, mercy, forgiveness and love. Pope Benedict XVI said, in Urbi et Orbi, Easter 2009:

For not only bread, but all things necessary for sustenance in this life are given on loan to us with others and because of others and for others, to others through us. Meister Eckhart c.1260-c.1327

Prayers for Sunday and the week ahead

O God, you came to bring peace, to offer reconciliation, to heal the separation between people, and to show how it is possible for men and women to overcome their differences and to celebrate their unity. You revealed your God as a God of all people, a God without resentments or desires for revenge, a God who cares for each one of his children with an infinite love and mercy and who does not hesitate to invite them into his own house.

But our world today does not look like a world that knows you. Our nations are torn by chaos, hatred, violence, and war. In many places, death rules.

O God, do not forget the world into which you came to save your people; do not turn your back on your children who desire to live in harmony but who are constantly entangled in fear, anger, lust, violence, greed, suspicion, jealousy, and hunger for power. Bring your peace to this world, a peace we cannot make ourselves. Awaken the consciousness of all peoples and their leaders; raise up men and women full of love and generosity who can speak and act for peace, and show us new ways in which hatred can be left behind, wounds can be healed, and unity restored.

O God, come to our assistance. O God, make haste to help us. Amen.

St Mark's Foyer Improvements. Work will commence in August on the project to enlarge the foyer at St Mark's and provide new disabled friendly entrance doors. The work is entirely funded from grants and donations which have been received from charities. The finished work may not look entirely beautiful, since it requires the fitting of a new canopy over the finished doors. There are no funds for this at present and we will complete the work when we have raised more money. Please be patient with the finished appearance in the meantime !

A Hymn for Sunday

- 1 All I once held dear,
Built my life upon,
All this world reveres,
And wars to own,
All I once thought gain
I have counted loss;
Spent and worthless now,
Compared to this.
*Knowing You, Jesus, knowing You,
there is no greater thing.
You're my all, You're the best,
You're my joy, my righteousness,
and I love You, Lord.*
- 2 Now my heart's desire
Is to know You more,
To be found in You
And known as Yours.
To possess by faith
What I could not earn,
All-surpassing gift
Of righteousness.
- 3 Oh, to know the power
Of Your risen life,
And to know You in
Your sufferings.
To become like You
In Your death, my Lord,
So with You to live
And never die.

There is no delight in owning anything unshared. Seneca, 1st century

Rest In Peace

On the Sunday following a funeral service we remember in church those who have died. We light a candle to symbolise the light of Christ which eternally shines and brings hope. If you would like a person remembered in our service when the candle is lit, perhaps on an anniversary or birthday, please inform the ministers, or telephone the church office.

May the souls of all the faithful departed through the mercy of God, rest in peace and rise in glory. Amen.'
