Prayer for Sunday

Give us, O Lord, steadfast hearts
that cannot be dragged down by false loves;
give us courageous hearts
that cannot be worn down by trouble;
give us righteous hearts
that cannot be sidetracked
by unholy or unworthy goals.
Give to us also, our Lord and God,
understanding to know you,
diligence to look for you, wisdom to recognise you, and a faithfulness that will bring us to see you face to face.

Thomas a Kempis

Bible Notes

Ordinary 23 Year A

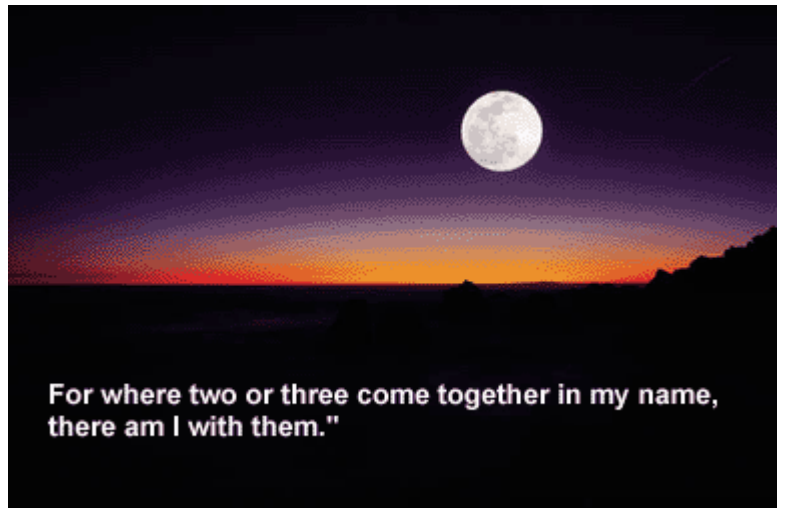

(Trinity 14 Green)

Verse of Scripture Matthew 18:20

Where two or three come together in my name, there am I with them."

A Collect Prayer - Before we read we pray

O God, you bear your people ever on your heart and mind. Watch over us in your protecting love, that, strengthened by your grace and led by your Spirit, we may not miss your way for us but enter into your glory, made ready for all in Christ our Lord. Amen. Methodist Worship

First Reading – Ezekiel 33: 7-11

"Son of man, I have made you a watchman for the house of Israel; so hear the word I speak and give them warning from me. When I say to the wicked, 'O wicked man, you will surely die,' and you do not speak out to dissuade him from his ways, that wicked man will die for his sin, and I will hold you accountable for his blood. But if you do warn the wicked man to turn from his ways and he does not do so, he will die for his sin, but you will have saved yourself. "Son of man, say to the house of Israel, 'This is what you are saying: "Our offences and sins weigh us down, and we are wasting away because of them. How then can we live?"' Say to them, 'As surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, I take no pleasure in the death of the wicked, but rather that they turn from their ways and live. Turn! Turn from your evil ways! Why will you die, O house of Israel?' (Reader: This is the word of the Lord -- Thanks be to God)

Second Reading - Romans 13: 8-14

Let no debt remain outstanding, except the continuing debt to love one another, for he who loves his fellowman has fulfilled the law. The commandments, "Do not commit adultery," "Do not murder," "Do not steal," "Do not covet," and whatever other commandment there may be, are summed up in this one rule: "Love your neighbour as yourself." Love does no harm to its neighbour. Therefore love is the fulfilment of the law. And do this, understanding the present time. The hour has come for you to wake up from your slumber, because our salvation is nearer now than when we first believed. The night is nearly over; the day is almost here. So let us put aside the deeds of darkness and put on the armour of light. Let us behave decently, as in the daytime, not in orgies and drunkenness, not in sexual immorality and debauchery, not in dissension and jealousy. Rather, clothe yourselves with the Lord Jesus Christ, and do not think about how to gratify the desires of the sinful nature.

(Reader: This is the word of the Lord -- Thanks be to God)

Third Reading – Matthew 18: 15-20

"If your brother sins against you, go and show him his fault, just between the two of you. If he listens to you, you have won your brother over. But if he will not listen, take one or two others along, so that 'every matter may be established by the testimony of two or three witnesses.' If he refuses to listen to them, tell it to the church; and if he refuses to listen even to the church, treat him as you would a pagan or a tax collector. "I tell you the truth, whatever you bind on earth will be bound in heaven, and whatever you loose on earth will be loosed in heaven. "Again, I tell you that if two of you on earth agree about anything you ask for, it will be done for you by my Father in heaven. For where two or three come together in my name, there am I with them."

(Reader: This is the word of the Lord - Thanks be to God)

Commentary

In truth, it is easier to get on a soap box and call for world peace, than it is to have happy and peaceful relationships with those around us. Calling for peace is easy, living peacefully with other people requires great courage and prayer. The sad thing is that often religious people are the very worst at this. They sometimes take matters so much to the heart, and become so fervently convinced of their own beliefs, that they judge and condemn those who are different. That is the message of history. There have been some fantastic religious people who have worked for a better world and set wonderful examples of good living, but all too often religion is a bad thing and causes people to hate and murder. Frankly, religion is not necessarily a good thing. Indeed it can bring out the worst in people. In the passage from Romans today we see that the measure or the worth, the value of religion, is judged by the necessary demonstration of that religion in actions of loving kindness. When we ask how good is our religious faith the answer is 'as good as your love for your neighbour.' The words and the deeds of those who seek to worship God should be characterized by a ruling principle which is that we 'love our neighbour as ourselves.' That principle is the scale upon which we weigh the true value of religion.

God teaches us throughout the pages of scripture that life is valuable. Often religious extremists consider their causes more important than human life, which is worth sacrificing. Some of the very worst crimes against humanity have been committed by religious people, in the name of their god. Religion does not always make people good people. Often people will use religion to gain divine blessing or authority for acts of terrible human greed and aggression.

The Christian life is expected to be a life which is distinguishable by its practice. Acting out the quality of love and the absence of evil, through the presence of the Lord Jesus Christ. The Christian and the Christian community is to be recognized as special. That is why in our reading from Matthew we hear of instructions for daily living to enable people to settle disputes inside the church privately, one to one.

We might not like our neighbour, we may believe that there are all sorts of barriers between us, social, political, religious, moral - whatever. We have to be able to transcend these barriers: remember that when Jesus was asked for an example of who a neighbour was, he chose a Samaritan, somebody who a good Jew wouldn't even condescend to speak with. So it is down to us to show how deep our religion goes. It is no use calling for change in the world, we have to be the change which we want to see in the world. Remember 'Love is the fulfilling of the law' Romans 13 Charles Royden

Meditation

"The German Pastor Martin Niemoeller (1892–1984), who protested Hitler's anti-semitic measures in person to the Fuehrer, was eventually arrested, then imprisoned at Sachsenhausen and Dachau (1937–1945). He once confessed, 'It took me a long time to learn that God is not the enemy of my enemies. He is not even the enemy of His enemies.'"

Prayers

God, unto whom all hearts be open, and unto whom all will speaks, and unto whom no privy thing is hid. I beseech you so far to cleanse the intent of my heart with the unspeakable gift of your grace, that I may perfectly love you, and worthily praise you. From Cloud of Unknowing 14c

O Lord Jesus, acknowledge what is yours in us, and take away from us all that is not yours; for your honour and glory. Amen. St Bernardine, 14&15century

God, if there be a God, if you will prove to me that you are, and if you will give me peace, I will give you my whole life. I'll do anything you ask me to do, go where you send me, obey you all my days. Isobel Kuhn 20th century

Post Communion Prayer

Keep, O Lord, your Church, with your perpetual mercy; and, because without you our human frailty cannot but fall, keep us ever by your help from all things hurtful, and lead us to all things profitable to our salvation; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen

Hymns (Please distribute Hymns and Psalms and Service sheets)

Who would true valour see 688, Moses I know you're the man 450, Make me a channel of your peace 776, Seek ye first the kingdom of God 138, Lord of the church, we pray for our renewing: (Tune Danny Boy)

Children and Children's Workers.

1September will see the launch of a website dedicated to the children of the Methodist Church. www.methodistchildren.org.uk seeks to give children a chance to have their say about what is important to them, both in terms of church life and wider social issues. There will be regular polls, finding out their opinions about issues such as what the government could change in schools and message boards so that they can discuss their experiences and beliefs with one another. Children can send in their pictures for display in the gallery, read an animated storybook, or explore 'the Methodist Story' online, but the website will also seek to address serious issues such as advice about staying safe on the Internet.

But it's not just for the children – the site also features an area dedicated to children's workers, providing links to resources as well as information about training courses and events. They too will have a message board and the aim is to build up a network of leaders, giving them the opportunity to express their concerns and challenges, share advice and benefit from one another's experience and new ideas. One way that the Church hopes to enable better communication with children and children's workers is through two online surveys available on the website. The one aimed at the children asks them about topics such as their favourite worship songs, what they do in church and even why they go to church in the first place. The leader's survey aims to get a better idea of what kind of provision exists for children within the churches and what kind of training has been received by children's workers, but it also focuses on their needs, asking about what support is available to them and what more is necessary.
