Prayer for Sunday

Grant us, O Lord,
 To seek first your Kingdom and your righteousness.
 Out of the abundance of your grace,
 grant us sufficient light and strength for our journey.
 Forgive what we have been,
 sanctify what we are
 and order what we shall be,
 in you and for you, now and forever. Amen

All Saints Day

All Saints Day

Verse of Scripture Colossians 1:12

Give thanks to the Father, who has qualified you to share in the inheritance of the saints in the kingdom of light.

Collect Prayer All Saints - Before we read we pray

Almighty God, you have knit together your elect in one communion and fellowship in the mystical body of your Son Christ our Lord: grant us grace so to follow your blessed saints in all virtuous and godly living that we may come to those inexpressible joys that you have prepared for those who truly love you; through Jesus Christ your Son our Lord, who is alive and reigns with you, in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, now and for ever.

They will receive blessing from the Lord and vindication
from God their saviour
Psalm 24:5

First Bible Reading - Isaiah 25: 6-9

On this mountain the LORD Almighty will prepare a feast of rich food for all peoples, a banquet of aged wine the best of meats and the finest of wines. On this mountain he will destroy the shroud that enfolds all peoples, the sheet that covers all nations; he will swallow up death forever. The Sovereign LORD will wipe away the tears from all faces; he will remove the disgrace of his people from all the earth. The LORD has spoken. In that day they will say, "Surely this is our God; we trusted in him, and he saved us. This is the LORD, we trusted in him; let us rejoice and be glad in his salvation." (Reader: This is the word of the Lord. All: Thanks be to God)

Second Reading - Rev 21: 1-6a

Then I saw a new heaven and a new earth, for the first heaven and the first earth had passed away, and there was no longer any sea. I saw the Holy City, the new Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God, prepared as a bride beautifully dressed for her husband. And I heard a loud voice from the throne saying, "Now the dwelling of God is with men, and he will live with them. They will be his people, and God himself will be with them and be their God. He will wipe every tear from their eyes. There will be no more death or mourning or crying or pain, for the old order of things has passed away." He who was seated on the throne said, "I am making everything new!" Then he said, "Write this down, for these words are trustworthy and true." He said to me: "It is done. I am the Alpha and the Omega, the Beginning and the End. To him who is thirsty I will give to drink without cost from the spring of the water of life.

(Reader : This is the word of the Lord. All: Thanks be to God)

Third Reading - John 11: 32-44

When Mary reached the place where Jesus was and saw him, she fell at his feet and said, "Lord, if you had been here, my brother would not have died." When Jesus saw her weeping, and the Jews who had come along with her also weeping, he was deeply moved in spirit and troubled. "Where have you laid him?" he asked. "Come and see, Lord," they replied. Jesus wept. Then the Jews said, "See how he loved him!" But some of them said, "Could not he who opened the eyes of the blind man have kept this man from dying?" Jesus, once more deeply moved, came to the tomb. It was a cave with a stone laid across the entrance. "Take away the stone," he said. "But, Lord," said Martha, the sister of the dead man, "by this time there is a bad odour, for he has been there four days." Then Jesus said, "Did I not tell you that if you believed, you would see the glory of God?" So they took away the stone. Then Jesus looked up and said, "Father, I thank you that you have heard me. I knew that you always hear me, but I said this for the benefit of the people standing here, that they may believe that you sent me." When he had said this, Jesus called in a loud voice, "Lazarus, come out!" The dead man came out, his hands and feet wrapped with strips of linen, and a cloth around his face. Jesus said to them, "Take off the grave clothes and let him go."

(Reader : This is the word of the Lord . All - Thanks be to God)

Post Communion Prayer

God, the source of all holiness and giver of all good things: may we who have shared at this table as strangers and pilgrims here on earth be welcomed with all your saints to heavenly feast on the day of your kingdom, through Jesus Christ our Lord. (All Saints)

Hymns (Please distribute Mission Praise and Morning Worship)

1. For the Beauty of the Earth
2. If I were a Butterfly
3. All things Bright and Beautiful
4. Who put the colours in the rainbow?
5. The God who made us human is the God who made the sea

Commentary

Franciscans Today

Although Saint Francis of Assisi was born over eight hundred years ago, very many people know something of him, perhaps as a little man in a brown tunic with a special way with animals. One well known story is of a rather wild young man who lost his love of wealth, and tried to base his life entirely on that of Jesus. One day, after hearing the Gospel of St. Matthew (19.21) Francis was drawn to following that scripture literally. He chose to live in extreme poverty, loving and reverencing the whole of God's Creation and serving people for love of Christ. Soon he was joined by others, and so the brotherhood of St. Francis developed. The movement grew and the basic values have survived. In 1980 the Pope proclaimed St. Francis the Patron Saint of Ecology.

Francis soon recognised that there were many people, in ordinary family and working lives who felt called to a similar way of life. There were soon three Orders of Franciscans- the men who had gathered around Francis in increasing numbers, women, who served God and his people similarly but accepted enclosed lives because of the social restrictions of the time, and those who became known as The Third Order. Based in the Anglican Church, though not exclusive to it, the members of the Third Order of the Society of Saint Francis try and live according to Franciscan values in the world. They are part of a scattered Community, seeking to follow Christ in everyday life after the pattern of St Francis. The membership consists of men and women, young and old, clergy and lay.

If you are interested in joining the Third Order or learning more about their disciplined and prayer-centred lives, I would be delighted to talk to you. Eileen Brown of Putnoe Heights Church. (Phone 267909)

Meditation.

The attitude of humans towards the animal kingdom has, in the Judaeo-Christian tradition, been that of master and servants. In this view animals were made for humans: to feed us, clothe us, work for us, amuse and comfort us. Animals have always been exploited for human need or amusement, although increasingly cruelty has been curbed by public opinion and the Law. Although the rights of animals has a higher profile than ever before, our relationship to the animals, whether as pets or in the wild, is still shifting and uncertain. Humans reactions to animals range widely between cruelty at one extreme and violent animal rights activism at the other.

In our all-age worship this morning we are giving thanks to God for all that animals mean to us, their beauty, usefulness and companionship. But perhaps we should try and break away from seeing animals only in relationship to us? If we look back to the life and writings of Francis of Assisi, a man who nearly lived eight hundred years ago (1182-1226) we see a very radical view of the relationship between man and all other parts of the created world. Francis had the spiritual insight to recognise the essential unity of God's creation. Each part of that creation, from the mighty Sun to the smallest mouse, are recognised as beautiful and precious in God's sight, and therefore worthy of equal respect. In his "Canticle of the Creatures" Francis developed the idea of the unity of all creation by calling it a family, thus the Sun is a Brother, the Moon a Sister. Francis even called birds and animals his sisters and brothers. This revolutionary idea: that there is an equality in every part of creation, was and remains a challenge to the notion that animals were made by God as a commodity to be used and abused. The Franciscan view of the interconnectedness of all creation may be of great use to our generation. The old model of greedy exploitation of the planet and its other inhabitants has brought us to the brink of ecological disaster. That is the very serious message underpinning today's celebrations. Joan Crossley

Canticle of the Creatures...

Most High, all-powerful, good Lord, Yours are the praises, the glory, and the honour, and all blessing,
To you alone, Most High, do they belong, and no human is worthy to mention your name.
Praised be to you, my Lord, with all your creatures, especially Sir Brother Sun,
Who is the day and through whom you give us light.
And he is beautiful and radiant with great splendour; and bears a likeness of you, Most High One.
Praised be you, my Lord, through Sister Moon and the stars, in heaven you formed them clear and precious and beautiful.
Praised be you, my Lord, through Brother Wind, and through the air, cloudy and serene, and every kind of weather, through whom you give sustenance to your creatures.
Praised be you, my Lord, through Sister Water,
who is very useful and humble and precious and chaste.
Praised be you, my Lord, through Brother Fire, through whom you light the night, and he is beautiful and playful and robust and strong.
Praised be you, my Lord, through our Sister Mother earth, who sustains and governs us, and produces various fruit with coloured flowers and herbs.
Praised be you, my Lord, through those who give pardon for your love,
and bear infirmity and tribulation.
Blessed are those who endure in peace for by you, Most High, they shall be crowned.
Praised be you, my Lord, through our Sister Bodily Death, from whom no one living can escape.
Woe to those who die in mortal sin.
Blessed are those whom death will find in your most holy will,
for the second death shall do them no harm.
Praise and bless my Lord and give Him thanks and serve Him great humility.

Prayers of Francis of Assisi for Sunday and the week ahead.

Most High and glorious God, enlighten the darkness of our hearts. Give us a true faith, a certain hope and a perfect love. Give us a sense of the divine and knowledge of yourself, so that we may do everything in fulfilment of your holy will through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen

Lord, make me an instrument of Your peace.

Where there is hatred, let me bring love. Where there is injury, let me bring pardon.

Where there is discord, let me bring union. Where there is doubt, let me bring faith.

Where there is error, let me bring truth. Where there is despair, let me bring hope.

Where there is sadness, let me bring joy. Where there is darkness, let me bring light.

O Divine Master, grant that I may not so much seek to be consoled as to console, to be understood as to understand, to be loved as to love. For it is in giving that we receive.

It is in pardoning that we are pardoned. It is in dying that we are born to eternal life.

You are holy, Lord, the only God, and Your deeds are wonderful. You are strong. You are great.

You are the Most High. Amen

You are Almighty. You, Holy Father are King of heaven and earth. You are Three and One, Lord God, all Good. You are Good, all Good, supreme Good, Lord God, living and true. You are love. You are wisdom. You are humility. You are endurance. You are rest. You are peace. You are joy and gladness. You are justice and moderation. You are all our riches, and You suffice for us. You are beauty. You are gentleness. You are our protector. You are our guardian and defender. You are our courage. You are our haven and our hope. You are our faith, our great consolation. You are our eternal life, Great and Wonderful Lord, God Almighty, Merciful Saviour. Amen

Hear our humble prayer, O God, for our friends the animals, especially for animals who are suffering; for all that are overworked and underfed and cruelly treated; for all wistful creatures in captivity that beat against their bars; for any that are haunted or lost or deserted or frightened or hungry; for all that are in pain or dying; for all that must be put to death. We entreat for them all thy mercy and pity, and for those who deal with them we ask a heart of compassion and gentle hands and kindly words. Make us ourselves to be true friends to animals and so to share the blessing of the merciful. For the sake of thy Son the tender hearted, Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

Lord Jesus Christ, who has taught us that without our Father in heaven no sparrow falls to the ground, help us to be very kind to animals, and to our pets. May we remember that you will one day ask us if we have been good to them. Bless us as we take care of them; for your mercy's sake.

Did you miss the Archbishop of Canterbury on Radio 4 seeking to help John Humphrys in Search of God ? It was a great programme asking if faith possible in a world of suffering, much of it arguably caused by religion or religious extremism and to which God seems to turn a blind eye? Is there a place for religion in an age dominated by science? You can listen again online or catch coming programmes with Professor Tariq Ramadan, Muslim academic and author; and Sir Jonathan Sacks, Chief Rabbi. Tuesday Radio 4 at 9-9.30am, repeated 9.30 -10.00pm

The Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals

The RSPCA was the first animal protection society in the world, founded in 1824. In the 1800's compassion for animals was regarded as unusual and most were little more than commodities supplying food, transport or sport. Many animals were treated horrendously by their owners and in the early years, the Society's major campaign was to change people's indifference to animal cruelty. Since these early days inspectors have worked to promote kindness and prevent cruelty to animals and of course the public's attitude to animal care has greatly improved.

There are however, still many animals suffering unnecessarily and it is very good to know that the new Animal Welfare Bill is just one step away from the Statute Books. Owners and keepers will then need to meet their animal's basic needs under the Duty of Care. It will be a legal requirement for them to do what is reasonable to provide for their animal's needs and inspectors will be able to step in before suffering occurs. All animals should have the Five Freedoms:-

1. Freedom from hunger and thirst
2. Freedom from pain, injury and disease
3. Freedom from discomfort
(shelter and resting place)
4. Freedom to express normal behaviour
5. Freedom from fear and distress

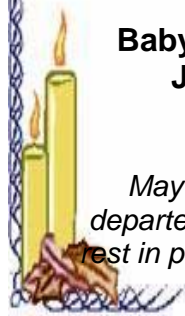

The RSPCA also supports animal care overseas and RSPCA International is one of the main organisations assisting in the humane treatment of these animals.

Rest In Peace

On the Sunday following a funeral service we remember in church those who have died. We light a candle to symbolise the light of Christ which eternally shines and brings hope. If you would like a person remembered in our service when the candle is lit, perhaps on an anniversary or birthday, please inform the ministers, or telephone the church office.

May the souls of all the faithful departed through the mercy of God, rest in peace and rise in glory. Amen.
