You are all welcome to our worship this morning. At Putnoe Heights Church we welcome especially the family and friends of Cooper Barry Christopher Dunford who has been brought for baptism.

Prayer for Sunday

Send forth your wisdom, O Lord, to live in our hearts, to work in our lives and to speak in our consciences; that all our thoughts, words and actions may conform to your will and reveal your glory; through Christ our Lord. Amen.

Ordinary 23

We are surrounded by images of what constitutes success and encouraged to try and become like famous people by using their shampoo or cologne. They are presented as aspirational characters and young people especially are given role models of these people, who are usually stars of film or sport.

Yet these are poor examples for us or our children. With their failed relationships and dysfunctional lifestyles they are usually more to be pitied than copied. We need to lay before ourselves better examples of authentic living, types of behaviour which are more constructive and contribute to the happiness of ourselves and others. In our reading today we read that people said of Jesus 'He has done everything well,' now that really is a lifestyle worth looking at.

Sentence of Scripture Ps 107 (v. 1 & 19)

O Give thanks to the Lord for he is good for his loving memory is forever..... he satisfies the thirsty: and fills the hungry with good things.

Collect Prayer for the Day Before we read we pray

O God, you bear your people ever on your heart and mind. Watch over us in your protecting love, that, strengthened by your grace and led by your Spirit, we may not miss your way for us but enter into your glory, made ready for all in Christ our Lord. Amen. Methodist Worship

First Bible Reading - Isaiah Chapter 35:4-7

Say to those with fearful hearts, "Be strong, do not fear; your God will come, he will come with vengeance; with divine retribution he will come to save you." Then will the eyes of the blind be opened and the ears of the deaf unstopped. Then will the lame leap like a deer, and the mute tongue shout for joy. Water will gush forth in the wilderness and streams in the desert. The burning sand will become a pool, the thirsty ground bubbling springs. In the haunts where jackals once lay, grass and reeds and papyrus will grow.

(This is the word of the Lord —Thanks be to God)

Second Bible Reading - James 2:1-10, 14-17

My brothers, as believers in our glorious Lord Jesus Christ, don't show favouritism. Suppose a man comes into your meeting wearing a gold ring and fine clothes, and a poor man in shabby clothes also comes in. If you show special attention to the man wearing fine clothes and say, "Here's a good seat for you," but say to the poor man, "You stand there" or "Sit on the floor by my feet," have you not discriminated among yourselves and become judges with evil thoughts? Listen, my dear brothers: Has not God chosen those who are poor in the eyes of the world to be rich in faith and to inherit the kingdom he promised those who love him? But you have insulted the poor. Is it not the rich who are exploiting you? Are they not the ones who are dragging you into court? Are they not the ones who are slandering the noble name of him to whom you belong? If you really keep the royal law found in Scripture, "Love your neighbour as yourself," you are doing right. But if you show favouritism, you sin and are convicted by the law as lawbreakers. For whoever keeps the whole law and yet stumbles at just one point is guilty of breaking all of it. What good is it, my brothers, if a man claims to have faith but has no deeds? Can such faith save him? Suppose a brother or sister is without clothes and daily food. If one of you says to him, "Go, I wish you well; keep warm and well fed," but does nothing about his physical needs, what good is it? In the same way, faith by itself, if it is not accompanied by action, is dead. But someone will say, "You have faith; I have deeds." Show me your faith without deeds, and I will show you my faith by what I do.

(This is the word of the Lord – Thanks be to God)

Gospel Reading - Mark 7:24-37

Jesus left that place and went to the vicinity of Tyre. He entered a house and did not want anyone to know it; yet he could not keep his presence secret. In fact, as soon as she heard about him, a woman whose little daughter was possessed by an evil spirit came and fell at his feet. The woman was a Greek, born in Syrian Phoenicia. She begged Jesus to drive the demon out of her daughter. "First let the children eat all they want," he told her, "for it is not right to take the children's bread and toss it to their dogs." "Yes, Lord," she replied, "but even the dogs under the table eat the children's crumbs." Then he told her, "For such a reply, you may go; the demon has left your daughter." She went home and found her child lying on the bed, and the demon gone.

Then Jesus left the vicinity of Tyre and went through Sidon, down to the Sea of Galilee and into the region of the Decapolis. There some people brought to him a man who was deaf and could hardly talk, and they begged him to place his hand on the man. After he took him aside, away from the crowd, Jesus put his fingers into the man's ears. Then he spit and touched the man's tongue. He looked up to heaven and with a deep sigh said to him, "Ephphatha!" (which means, "Be opened!"). At this, the man's ears were opened, his tongue was loosened and he began to speak plainly. Jesus commanded them not to tell anyone. But the more he did so, the more they kept talking about it. People were overwhelmed with amazement. "He has done everything well," they said. "He even makes the deaf hear and the mute speak."

(This is the word of the Lord – Thanks be to God)

Post Communion Prayer

God our creator, you feed your children with the true manna, the living bread from heaven: let this holy food sustain us through our earthly pilgrimage until we come to that place where hunger and thirst are no more; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Hymns for Sunday (Please distribute Family Morning Worship and hymn sheet where requested, also baptism sheets at Putnoe Heights Church)

1. A Man there lived in Galilee
2. What a wonderful Saviour is Jesus
3. What a friend we have in Jesus
4. Sing of the Lord's goodness
5. Christ is made the sure foundation

Commentary

Those of you who struggle with hearing problems will know that it is not pleasant being deaf. At the time of Jesus it was much worse because there were no hearing aids, no sources of help for disability. The poor man in the Gospel story who was deaf and dumb would have lived an isolated life and he would have been used to people pointing at him and making him feel humiliated.

In the Old Testament, seven hundred years before this incident was recorded in Mark's Gospel, the prophet Isaiah was describing the age of the Messiah, the time when God would act in the world. He said that when the Christ came, (Isa. 35:5-6).

"the ears of the deaf would be unstopped . . . and the tongue of the dumb would shout for joy"

In healing this man Jesus was taking upon himself the hopes and dreams of those who were waiting for God to appear on earth and do a new and wonderful thing.

Deaf mutes were protected under Jewish law but they were classed with other groups such as women, slaves, and minors, not considered educated enough to keep the law. Jesus acts towards the man in a way which is compassionate in every sense

Jesus takes the man aside away from everybody else. First of all Jesus takes the man aside, away from the crowd. Jesus gives him 'one to one' time. The man has been used to people looking at him and pointing and Jesus will not use him as a spectacle, Jesus understands that the man does not want to be embarrassed. By taking him aside Jesus shows that the man is important and he deserves his complete attention.

Jesus communicates with the man The man is deaf and dumb and so Jesus cannot speak to him. Jesus knows how important it is to communicate and because he cannot use words to speak to the man he uses actions.

Jesus put his fingers into the man's ears. The man could not hear and so Jesus touches his ears. He makes it clear that he knows what the problem is with the hearing.

Then he spit and touched the man's tongue. We are told that the man can hardly talk and so Jesus spits and touches the man's tongue. It was thought that spit had healing properties. The Roman Emperor Vespasian restored the sight of a blind man by spitting into his eyes. (Suetonius Vespasian 7 Tacitus Hist 4.81) Jesus touches his tongue to show that Jesus understand his difficulty with talking.

Then we are told Jesus does another action. Jesus looked up to heaven. Jesus is making it clear that the healing which is about to take place is not an earthly cure. The man is being told in visual terms that the place from where we can find help from the things which trouble us is by turning to God. There is no earthly answer to human need, we have to look to God. Charles Royden

Meditation Archbishop of Canterbury on the refugee crisis (Thursday 3rd September 2015)

In a statement on the refugee crisis facing Europe and the Middle East, the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Most Revd Justin Welby, said today:

This is a hugely complex and wicked crisis that underlines our human frailty and the fragility of our political systems. My heart is broken by the images and stories of men, women and children who have risked their lives to escape conflict, violence and persecution.

There are no easy answers and my prayers are with those who find themselves fleeing persecution, as well as those who are struggling under immense pressure to develop an effective and equitable response. Now, perhaps more than ever in post-war Europe, we need to commit to joint action across Europe, acknowledging our common responsibility and our common humanity.

As Christians we believe we are called to break down barriers, to welcome the stranger and love them as ourselves (Leviticus 19:34), and to seek the peace and justice of our God, in our world, today.

With winter fast approaching and with the tragic civil war in Syria spiralling further out of control, we must all be aware that the situation could yet worsen significantly.

I am encouraged by the positive role that churches, charities and international agencies are already playing, across Europe and in Syria and the surrounding areas, to meet basic humanitarian needs.

These efforts may feel trivial in the face of the challenge, but if we all play our part this is a crisis that we can resolve.

We need a holistic response to this crisis that meets immediate humanitarian need while tackling its underlying drivers. I commend the UK Government for its strong commitment to the world's poorest people through the delivery of the aid budget. It has shown global leadership by providing £900 million in aid since 2012 to the crisis in Syria. It has also shown moral leadership in using Royal Navy ships to save the lives of hundreds who have tried to make the dangerous crossing across the Mediterranean.

I hold in my heart particularly those who are most vulnerable in conflict, and those who we have a special duty to protect. In the past, the Government has rightly sought to provide sanctuary to unaccompanied children, women and those who have been victims of, or are at risk of, sexual violence.

I welcome this, while urging a renewed commitment to taking in the most vulnerable.

The Church has always been a place of sanctuary for those in need, and Churches in the UK and across Europe have been meeting the need they are presented with. I reaffirm our commitment to the principle of sanctuary for those who require our help and love. The people of these islands have a long and wonderful history of offering shelter and refuge, going back centuries – whether it be Huguenot Christians, Jewish refugees, Ugandan Asians, Vietnamese boat people or many, many more.

It has always been controversial at the time it happened, always been seen as too difficult. Yet each time we have risen to the challenge and our country has been blessed by the result.

We cannot turn our backs on this crisis. We must respond with compassion. But we must also not be naïve in claiming to have the answers to end it. It requires a pan-European response – which means a commitment to serious-minded diplomatic and political debate, but not at the expense of practical action that meets the immediate needs of those most in need of our help.

Prayers for will mark longest reign

On 9 September 2015, HM The Queen will become the longest serving monarch in British history, having reigned for over 62 years. At about 5:30 pm she will exceed the 23,226 day and just under 17 hour reign of Queen Victoria who acceded to the throne on 20 June 1837 and reigned until 22 January 1901. There is no formal Royal event marking this moment: it is business as usual for the Queen, who will be in Scotland, opening a railway in the Borders. She is not, currently, the longest serving monarch in the world. King Bhumibol of Thailand has reigned for 68 years. Prayers have been written specially for churches to mark the occasion:

Collect for use after the Collect of the Day (A modern-language prayer drawing on Philippians 2)

Almighty God, whose Son Jesus Christ exchanged the glory of a heavenly throne for the form of a servant, we thank you that you have given Elizabeth our Queen a heart to serve her people, and have kept her devoted in this service beyond all who were before her: encourage us by her example to serve one another, and to seek the common good, until you call us all to reign with Christ in your eternal kingdom. Amen

Prayers for Sunday

Lord Jesus on this day we remember when you opened the ears of the man who was deaf, open our ears to your voice and may we spread abroad the story of your love and compassion which reaches out and makes us well.

Open our ears O Lord to those who are lonely, the sick, those who are troubled in their hearts and minds and those who are spiritually hungry. May we be used by you to reach out with your healing touch to those who are in need.

Open the ears dear Lord we pray of the Nations, so that they might hear those who cry for justice. We remember those who are displaced from their own country by war and disaster. We pray for refugees asylum seekers and migrants who seek a place of peace and safety in which to live and care for their families. We pray for all of those who live in constant fear of war, those who have no peace because they are threatened for their race, colour or creed.

Open our ears Lord to the necessity for equality. Release all of those who are captive to prejudice and discrimination. Give perseverance to all who work for mutual respect and strive to remove intolerance.

Open our ears to those who cry out in suffering. To those who are trapped in broken bodies. To those who suffer from fragile minds, those have been broken through painful experiences or debilitating disease. Give hope to all who put their trust in you.

Open our ears to those whose lives have been crushed by the death of loved ones and who live in grief and loss. Give to all who mourn the knowledge of your compassion and of your everlasting love for all that you have created.

We remember those who have died and commend them to God.

Rest In Peace

On the Sunday following a funeral service we remember in church those who have died. We light a candle to symbolise the light of Christ which eternally shines and brings hope. If you would like a person remembered in our service when the candle is lit, perhaps on an anniversary or birthday, please inform the ministers, or telephone the church office

Kathleen Margaret Stronner

May the souls of all the faithful departed through the mercy of God, rest in peace and rise in glory. Amen.'
