Thank You

The flowers at Putnoe Heights Church this week have been given by Sylvia Cohen in loving memory of her husband Ken, By Davina Latter in loving memory of her dear Mum, Mary Britton on her birthday, and by Julia Bailey in loving memory of her husband Bill on his birthday.

We are grateful when people make donations towards flowers perhaps to celebrate a special occasion such as an anniversary or in memory of a loved one. Please contact Miss Marion Prior 303254 (St Mark's) or Ann Hitt 404186 (Putnoe Heights) or add your name to the rota in the foyers.

Prayer for Sunday

Teach us, good Lord,
to serve you as you deserve;
to give and not to grudge the cost;
to fight and not to heed the wounds;
to toil and not to seek for rest;
to labour and not to seek for any reward,
save that of knowing that we do your will;
through Christ our Lord. Amen.

Second Sunday of Advent

Sentence of Scripture - Mark 1:2,3

It is written in Isaiah the prophet: "I will send my messenger ahead of you, who will prepare your way"-- "a voice of one calling in the desert, 'Prepare the way for the Lord, make straight paths for him.'"

Collect Prayer for the Day

O Lord, raise up, we pray, your power and come among us, and with great might succour us; that whereas, through our sins and wickedness we are grievously hindered in running the race that is set before us, your bountiful grace and mercy may speedily help and deliver us; through Jesus Christ your Son our Lord, to whom with you and the Holy Spirit, be honour and glory, now and for ever. Amen
(Common Worship)

First Bible Reading Isaiah 40: 1-11

Comfort, comfort my people, says your God. Speak tenderly to Jerusalem, and proclaim to her that her hard service has been completed, that her sin has been paid for, that she has received from the Lord's hand double for all her sins. A voice of one calling: "In the desert prepare the way for the LORD; make straight in the wilderness a highway for our God. Every valley shall be raised up, every mountain and hill made low; the rough ground shall become level, the rugged places a plain. And the glory of the LORD will be revealed, and all mankind together will see it. For the mouth of the LORD has spoken." A voice says, "Cry out." And I said, "What shall I cry?" "All men are like grass, and all their glory is like the flowers of the field. The grass withers and the flowers fall, because the breath of the LORD blows on them. Surely the people are grass. The grass withers and the flowers fall, but the word of our God stands forever." You who bring good tidings to Zion, go up on a high mountain. You who bring good tidings to Jerusalem, lift up your voice with a shout, lift it up, do not be afraid; say to the towns of Judah, "Here is your God!" See, the Sovereign LORD comes with power, and his arm rules for him. See, his reward is with him, and his recompense accompanies him. He tends his flock like a shepherd: He gathers the lambs in his arms and carries them close to his heart; he gently leads those that have young. (This is the word of the Lord – Thanks be to God)

Second Bible Reading - 2 Peter 3:8-15a

But do not forget this one thing, dear friends: With the Lord a day is like a thousand years, and a thousand years are like a day. The Lord is not slow in keeping his promise, as some understand slowness. He is patient with you, not wanting anyone to perish, but everyone to come to repentance. But the day of the Lord will come like a thief. The heavens will disappear with a roar; the elements will be destroyed by fire, and the earth and everything in it will be laid bare. Since everything will be destroyed in this way, what kind of people ought you to be? You ought to live holy and godly lives as you look forward to the day of God and speed its coming. That day will bring about the destruction of the heavens by fire, and the elements will melt in the heat. But in keeping with his promise we are looking forward to a new heaven and a new earth, the home of righteousness. So then, dear friends, since you are looking forward to this, make every effort to be found spotless, blameless and at peace with him. Bear in mind that our Lord's patience means salvation, just as our dear brother Paul also wrote you with the wisdom that God gave him. (This is the word of the Lord-- Thanks be to God)

Gospel Reading - Mark 1: 1-8

The beginning of the gospel about Jesus Christ, the Son of God.

It is written in Isaiah the prophet: "I will send my messenger ahead of you, who will prepare your way"-- "a voice of one calling in the desert, 'Prepare the way for the Lord, make straight paths for him.'" And so John came, baptizing in the desert region and preaching a baptism of repentance for the forgiveness of sins. The whole Judean countryside and all the people of Jerusalem went out to him. Confessing their sins, they were baptized by him in the Jordan River. John wore clothing made of camel's hair, with a leather belt around his waist, and he ate locusts and wild honey. And this was his message: "After me will come one more powerful than I, the thongs of whose sandals I am not worthy to stoop down and untie. I baptize you with water, but he will baptize you with the Holy Spirit." (This is the word of the Lord-- Thanks be to God)

Post Communion Prayer

Father in heaven who sent your Son to redeem the world and will send him again to be our judge: give us grace so to imitate him in the humility and purity of his first coming that, when he comes again, we may be ready to greet him with joyful love and firm faith; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Commentary Advent – He Comes!

Advent is a season of expectation and preparation, as the Church waits for the coming (adventus) of Christ, both in his incarnation and as judge at the end of time. The readings and liturgies therefore look forward not only to Christ's birth, but also to his final Coming, and challenge the modern reluctance to confront the theme of divine judgement: As Charles Wesley wrote:

'Every eye shall now behold him, robed in dreadful majesty.'

The characteristic note of Advent is expectation, rather than penitence, although the character of the season is easily coloured by an analogy with Lent. The anticipation of Christmas under relentless commercial pressure has also made it harder to sustain the appropriate sense of alert watchfulness. Church decorations are simple and spare, and purple is the traditional liturgical colour. In the northern hemisphere, the Advent season falls at the darkest time of the year, and the natural symbols of darkness and light are powerfully at work throughout Advent and Christmas. The lighting of candles on an Advent wreath, imported into Britain from northern Europe in the nineteenth century, is now a common practice in many churches. The Moravian custom of the Christingle which we use this week in our service, is now very popular, especially with the encouragement of the Children's Society. The third Sunday of Advent was observed in mediaeval times as a splash of colour in the restrained atmosphere of Advent (Gaudete or "Rose Sunday"), and the last days of Advent were marked by the sequence of Great 'O' Antiphons, which continue to inspire our modern Advent hymns and meditations.

From Common Worship – Introduction to the Season

Meditation

Advent truly is a season of expectation and hope, but its expectations and hope based not on empty human aspirations, but on the solid and sure foundation we have in Jesus Christ. He comes in the stillness and the turmoil, He comes to bring peace, and to disturb us. He comes as He walks with us in the past, the present and the future. He is our heritage, our stability and our transformation as He sustains, renews and continues to reveal more of His love and His plan for His creation as once again He breaks through into our world. The readings today remind us to speak up and to proclaim the message of God as we await Christ's coming in hope. Isaiah says there is a "voice crying in the desert", where God urges us to "Speak tenderly." and "Comfort my people." In Mark the voice of John the Baptist cries out to implore us to proclaim a message of hope to our world by preparing the way for the Lord and getting ready for Him. Both are messages of expectation and hope to all those who are in need. In a world of violence and terrorism, of poverty and injustice, of dishonesty and manipulation of the truth, and of political expediency, we are invited to practice our faith in the spirit of the great prophets and address issues of justice, peace, and genuine human development for all God's people. The images in the readings today are images of hope and possibility. The rough way can be made straight, the broken made whole. God will come with power. There will be a new heaven and new earth where the peace and righteous of the Christ child incarnate dwells. In Advent we wait in eager anticipation for Jesus to come.

A time of preparation and new beginnings

Advent is the time when we prepare for Christ's coming at Christmas and His return in glory, a time of new beginnings. But after the considered and measured discourses of Matthew we've been looking at over the past few weeks, the short sharp tone of Mark, the gospel for the church year just started in Advent, comes to us as something of a surprise, even shock, as it delivers its sense of energy and urgency as we 'Prepare the way for the Lord, make straight paths for him' as we wait for His coming. No time here for birth narratives of a new beginning, just straight into the story of the Messiah who was about to start His ministry. It's characteristic of the way the gospel of Mark is written.

In Mark's gospel a sentence about Jesus going to Jerusalem would probably be starkly stated as: 'Immediately Jesus went to Jerusalem'. Matthew, would probably have phrased as the same sentence: 'Jesus, the son of Joseph and Mary, knowing that the writers and the teachers of the law were in the Temple Courts, went to Jerusalem, a day's walk away, to meet them'. Luke, who we study next year, would probably write: 'Jesus went on his way to Jerusalem and on His way saw a woman who was sick. Filled with compassion He stopped to help her, to heal her sickness and forgive her sins'. John would probably write: 'Knowing it was His destiny to meet with the scribes and the Pharisees, on the third day Jesus went up to Jerusalem so that the scriptures could be fulfilled'. Matthew's house would be very orderly with all the ornaments precisely set out on the mantelpiece; Luke's house would probably be full of people all of the time, John's full of candles and books, and Mark's looking like a whirlwind had just hit it, post still on the table, coffee cups waiting to be washed up and Mark nowhere to be seen !

It's a timely reminder that there is a sense of urgency about our spiritual lives and about our preparation. We all know that in preparation for anything there are some things that get put off until the last moment, for some this happens more than others, and for some a few things that just never get done. The prompting from John the Baptist is to take action now. The urgency of the gospel of Mark and the words of John with which it opens both underline the importance of acting sooner rather than later in matters of repentance and salvation. John the Baptist was offering his hearers, predominantly Jews and God fearing gentiles, a chance at a completely new beginning. Not through the symbolic baptism with water but through the life changing baptism of the Holy Spirit that the Messiah would bring and through that an offer of a restored relationship with God. John also speaks to us in a desert context. A lonely dry wilderness. A geographic location and a spiritual state. John speaks to us with urgency from his desert experiences into ours. And the people, listening to John, were drawn not to him, but to the one he pointed to, the one who would give living water, the one who would baptize with the Holy Spirit.

As Christians we will sometimes find ourselves in the desert places as we prepare to move on in our journey of life, times where our spiritual life seems dry and God seems distant. And there will be other times when we'll find ourselves as the ones who bring refreshment, bringing water to the thirsty, and pointing others to the one who gives living water. Helping others to find their new beginnings. John the Baptist also challenges our priorities, especially in the fast paced stories we have in Mark. What is important to us he seems to ask? What are our priorities as we prepare? Will we be ready in time? We can't just go through the motions he says, we have to do something. Just like we can't just think about the Christmas shopping, we have to do it. Baptism was an outward and visible sign of an inward and often invisible change. An acknowledgement that things had changed, priorities would now be different. A new beginning started as parts of the old life end and pass away.

Peter, in his epistle, picks up this theme. We are to be grateful that each ending is another new beginning. Each new beginning gives us yet more time before we have to face the final ending. We are to be grateful in our waiting and for our waiting. In Advent we pray for the coming of Christ, but do we really know what we are asking for it would seem Peter asks us? We're quite happy to pray for the coming of the baby Jesus and to make all the necessary preparations so we can celebrate accordingly. Surely that's enough. It would seem not. Yet we seem to be much less comfortable seeking a world where that baby becomes fully incarnate as God's Son, bringing righteousness to His cosmos and judgement to His world. A Messiah who disturbs our human props of comfort and the structures we have made for ourselves to support our contented way of living. A Messiah who challenges us to enter into a new way of living. As we see from the very beginning of his gospel, Mark clearly depicts Jesus as the Son of God, the Messiah. He also shows Jesus as inaugurating God's rule on earth, the Kingdom of God in the present and in the future, through His words and deeds. That's some new beginning, and some hope!

Prayers for Sunday and the Week Ahead

How silently, how silently the wondrous gift is given. I would be silent now, Lord, and expectant; that I may receive the gift I need, so I may become the gifts others need. Amen

Ted Loder

Thank you, Lord Jesus, for accepting the Servant's mission; thank you, Spirit of God, for the strength to carry it through; thank you, Father, for not withholding your only Son from the ultimate sacrifice. Help us to appreciate what our salvation has cost. Amen Dick France

Grant. O God, that as we rejoice in the hope of the coming of our Saviour, we may seek to prepare the way of His coming by advancing His Kingdom in the world and caring for the needs of our fellow men and women, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen

Keep us, O Lord, while we tarry on this earth, in a serious seeking after thee, and in an affectionate working with thee, every day of our lives; that when thou comest, we may be found not hiding our talent, nor serving the flesh, nor yet asleep with our lamp unfurnished, but waiting and longing for our Lord, our glorious King, for ever and ever. Amen Richard Baxter 1615 - 1691

Lord God, whose Word and will are made known in Jesus Christ, inspire in us faith in that Word and obedience to that will, for our salvation and for your glory. Amen

Christ the Sun of Righteousness shine upon you, scatter the darkness from before your path, and make you ready to meet him when he comes in glory; and the blessing; and the blessing of God Almighty, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit, be among you and remain with you always. Amen

Emmaus Mission Project

Thanks to everybody who has contributed towards our Emmaus Mission Project 2014. The amount raised has now raced past £4,000, with today the day on which we will close the appeal and send off the gift to Emmaus. We will give the final total next week, but in the meantime thank you for your tremendous generosity. The following letter has been received from Emmaus, Sam Cappleman

Please pass on my sincere thanks and gratitude, on behalf of the Emmaus Community, to your parishioners for this wonderful support. I know that it will be a great morale boost for all who live and work at Emmaus. As you may expect, life there can have all the highs, lows and vicissitudes of elsewhere, only more so at times! Knowing that the wider community is supportive means an awful lot to them.

You may also be interested to know that, as part of their commitment to solidarity with others who are homeless or marginalised in our community, the Companions' Solidarity Forum are gathering warm clothing, blankets, etc. from our donated goods to give to local agencies over the Christmas and winter period. If, in your capacity, you become aware of any individuals or groups who would benefit then please get in touch with me or with the community directly. With sincere thanks again, and every best wish to you all over the Advent and Christmas season. Frank Brickhill Community Safety Forum met this week and heard reports of multiple burglaries in the Brickhill area, especially detached homes around Falcon Avenue. Please remember to lock up and report anything suspicious to Inspector Masters nicholas.masters@bedfordshire.pnn.police.uk You can obtain stickers printed by the Borough Council for your front door which remind callers that it is a criminal offence if they do not leave your property. These are available free from the church offices.

Second Candle - The Candle of Peace (Purple Candle) The prophets who foretold the birth of Jesus

Leader: May your hearts be filled with peace as you hear the words of the prophet Isaiah who told of one who would be born the Prince of Peace.

All: Thanks be to God

Leader: Last Sunday we lit the First Candle of Hope in our Advent Wreath, and celebrated the patriarchs. We light it again as we place our hope in Jesus the blessing of God for all nations.

(A person now lights the first candle)

The prophet Isaiah said 'For to us a child is born, to us a son is given, and the government will be on his shoulders. And he will be called Wonderful Counsellor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace. Of the increase of his government and peace there will be no end. He will reign on David's throne and over his kingdom, establishing and upholding it with justice and righteousness from that time on and forever. The zeal of the LORD Almighty will accomplish this.'

Blessed are you, sovereign Lord, just and true: to you be praise and glory for ever. Of old you spoke by the mouth of your prophets, but in our days you speak through your Son, whom you have appointed the heir of all things. Grant us, your people, to walk in his light, that we may be found ready and watching when he comes again in glory and judgement; for you are our light and our salvation. Blessed be God for ever.

(A person lights the second candle)

Leader: Let us pray:

All: Lord Jesus, light of the world, the prophets said you would bring peace and save your people in trouble. Give peace in our hearts at Christmas and show all the world God's love.

Advent 1 Advent candles tell their story, as we watch and pray;
longing for the day of glory, 'Come, Lord, soon,' we say.
Pain and sorrow, tears and sadness, changed for gladness on that day.

Advent 2 Prophet voices loudly crying, making pathways clear,
glimpsing glory, self-denying, calling all to hear.
Through their message-challenged, shaken-hearts awaken: God is near!

Christmas Delivery

Copies of the St Mark's Christmas Newspaper are printed and ready for delivery. Please do take roads if you are able. We will have a special 'Delivery Day' on Saturday 13 December. Please meet at St
