We are grateful when people make donations towards flowers perhaps to celebrate a special occasion such as an anniversary or in memory of a loved one. Please contact Miss Marion Prior 303254 (St. Mark's) or Ann Hitt 404186 (Putnoe Heights) or add your name to the rota in the Foyers.

Prayer for Sunday

Teach us, good Lord,
to serve you as you deserve;
to give and not to grudge the cost;
to fight and not to heed the wounds;
to toil and not to seek for rest;
to labour and not to seek for any reward,
save that of knowing that we do your will;
through Christ our Lord. Amen.

Sentence of Scripture

I wait for the Lord, my soul waits, and in His word I put my hope. Ps 130 v 5

Collect Prayer for the Day

Before we read we pray

O God, the strength of all them that put their trust in thee, mercifully accept our prayers; and because through the weakness of our mortal nature we can do no good thing without thee, grant us the help of thy grace, that in keeping of thy commandments we may please thee, both in will and deed; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. Amen.

The one who raised the Lord Jesus from the dead will also raise us

2 Corinthians Chapter 4

First Bible Reading Genesis 3:8-15

Then the man and his wife heard the sound of the Lord God as he was walking in the garden in the cool of the day, and they hid from the Lord God among the trees of the garden. But the Lord God called to the man, "Where are you?" He answered, "I heard you in the garden, and I was afraid because I was naked; so I hid." And he said, "Who told you that you were naked? Have you eaten from the tree that I commanded you not to eat from?" The man said, "The woman you put here with me—she gave me some fruit from the tree, and I ate it." Then the Lord God said to the woman, "What is this you have done?" The woman said, "The serpent deceived me, and I ate." So the Lord God said to the serpent, "Because you have done this, 'Cursed are you above all livestock and all wild animals! You will crawl on your belly and you will eat dust all the days of your life. And I will put enmity between you and the woman, and between your offspring and hers; he will crush your head, and you will strike his heel.'"

(This is the word of the Lord—Thanks be to God)

Second Bible Reading - 2 Corinthians 4:13-5v1

It is written: "I believed; therefore I have spoken." Since we have that same spirit of faith, we also believe and therefore speak, because we know that the one who raised the Lord Jesus from the dead will also raise us with Jesus and present us with you to himself. All this is for your benefit, so that the grace that is reaching more and more people may cause thanksgiving to overflow to the glory of God. Therefore we do not lose heart. Though outwardly we are wasting away, yet inwardly we are being renewed day by day. For our light and momentary troubles are achieving for us an eternal glory that far outweighs them all. So we fix our eyes not on what is seen, but on what is unseen, since what is seen is temporary, but what is unseen is eternal.

For we know that if the earthly tent we live in is destroyed, we have a building from God, an eternal house in heaven, not built by human hands.

(This is the word of the Lord – Thanks be to God)

Gospel Reading - Mark 3:20-35

Then Jesus entered a house, and again a crowd gathered, so that he and his disciples were not even able to eat. When his family heard about this, they went to take charge of him, for they said, "He is out of his mind." And the teachers of the law who came down from Jerusalem said, "He is possessed by Beelzebul! By the prince of demons he is driving out demons."

So Jesus called them over to him and began to speak to them in parables: "How can Satan drive out Satan? If a kingdom is divided against itself, that kingdom cannot stand. If a house is divided against itself, that house cannot stand. And if Satan opposes himself and is divided, he cannot stand; his end has come. In fact, no one can enter a strong man's house without first tying him up. Then he can plunder the strong man's house. Truly I tell you, people can be forgiven all their sins and every slander they utter, but whoever blasphemes against the Holy Spirit will never be forgiven; they are guilty of an eternal sin." He said this because they were saying, "He has an impure spirit."

Then Jesus' mother and brothers arrived. Standing outside, they sent someone in to call him. A crowd was sitting around him, and they told him, “Your mother and brothers are outside looking for you.” “Who are my mother and my brothers?” he asked. Then he looked at those seated in a circle around him and said, “Here are my mother and my brothers! Whoever does God’s will is my brother and sister and mother.”

(This is the word of the Lord—Thanks be to God)

Post Communion Prayer

Eternal Father, we thank you for nourishing us with these heavenly gifts: may our communion strengthen us in faith, build us up in hope, and make us grow in love; for the sake of Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen

Meditation

Even at this early stage of Mark’s pacy gospel, things are moving quickly. Crowds are already gathering and people are coming to Jesus from all directions and backgrounds. Some are undoubtedly just there so see something new, something different and to listen to someone who is prepared to challenge the status quo. Will they see a miracle or witness a healing? Perhaps some of them don’t even care. They just want to be in on the action. For others, they are clearly following Jesus out of an act of real personal commitment and an embryonic understanding that what Jesus is bringing is not just a challenge to the current socio-political environment but a new world order, as God intervenes and becomes incarnate on earth. Jesus calls us too, not just to be ‘involved in the action’ and to follow Him indiscriminately but to reflect the incarnation as we live out our daily lives in a way which reflects our understanding of the change that he brings in our own personal lives. Like His early followers, we may not comprehend fully the long term implications of what this means, but it is, at its heart, a commitment to Christ and His teaching and a genuine desire to be faithful to it, wherever it may lead.

Commentary Letting things get out of hand

There are at least two sets of interested parties in today’s reading from Mark. There is Jesus family,

‘...have you seen what your boy is up to now?’ and the religious leaders,

‘...we can’t allow this to continue, He’s leading people astray from our true religion’.

Jesus is clearly causing a bit of a stir in the neighbourhood. It might have been fine if all Jesus was doing was going out in the morning and coming back at night and settling down in front of the fire with his slippers on, reading the paper. But things were not like that, they were beginning to get a bit out of hand. Jesus was beginning to attract a crowd, some of which were probably quite disreputable, who were following him around. They were probably a bit noisy, creating a bit of a mess, coming round the house at all hours of the day and night and generally getting the family a bad reputation. They certainly seemed to be no respecters of time, property or the reputation of the wider family. The family couldn’t even get in their own home at times. They needed to get a grip on things, they were told. You can imagine the people saying to his family

‘You need to get over there’, ‘take charge of Him’, ‘He’s lost it’, .

But if the family are concerned because of their reputation and the disturbance that is being caused, the scribes objections are far more fundamental. Perhaps their motivation is just wanting to maintain the way things are, not to upset the Roman authorities and therefore wanting to ‘keep the peace’. But the Scribes were devout and took scripture very seriously. They studied and tried to apply its teaching to their lives and the lives of those for whom they felt they had responsibility. Jesus’ new interpretation did not accord with their own understanding and it therefore needed to be challenged. If it did not align with their own, considered comprehension it must be wrong. Even if good things appear to be happening, it must be for the wrong reasons. And their understanding is that events and outcomes such as they have seen can only come from two places, God or the devil. And if it’s not God it must be the devil, Beelzebub.

Clearly it was serious stuff and needed to be addressed. In response, Jesus points them beyond their theory and learning to the reality of what is happening. People are being healed. People are being released into new freedom of life. Jesus has simply got on with the job of revealing god's Kingdom. In the Gospel of Mark we see no great proclamation of intentions such as we see in Luke, where Jesus makes explicit His calling to release captives and bring healing and wholeness to those in need. Jesus just gets on with the action. It's characterised by liberation and wholeness not captivity and fear. How can this be the work of the devil, it just does not make sense. And in making reference to blasphemy against the Holy Spirit Jesus rebuked His accusers, challenging them to reconcile what they have just said about doing things in the name of Beelzebub who seeks to deceive and enmesh and the liberating freedom of the God they teach and worship.

It's a gentle challenge to His family too, who by inference, must be somewhat complicit with those who think He's a bit strange, as they rush back to see what is happening. Perhaps they think it's to protect Him from Himself and any delusions of grandeur and celebrity status or perhaps they just want to sort things out so they don't cause a fuss in the neighbourhood and upset the neighbours.

For everyone involved the challenge comes because of a different perspective. Jesus can see what it is like to have the Kingdom of God revealed in people's lives and in the world as a whole. He can see the inward and the eternal. For those watching, they base their understanding on the immediate and the external, the signs they are seeing the words they are hearing. Faith comes when we see beyond the immediate and the external as we catch a glimpse of the inward and eternal. God calls us to look beyond the obvious and the immediate, the things which we think we can understand and invites us to catch a glimpse of His Kingdom. Through the mess and the business which seem to characterise our modern day lives He offers us the opportunity to join with Him in His Father's work. To be open to do God's will in a world so much in need of release and freedom. To not be constrained by the worlds perspective and limited understanding of the things that seem important, and of the myriad of limitations that come from such an outlook, but to be free to join with Him in the broad family of the church and its people, and far beyond, to reveal Jesus, the liberator and salvation of the world.

As we see from this story in the gospel of Mark, we don't even need to make grand statements about what we are doing, or the theological basis for what we are doing. We just need to get on and do it, confident that Jesus, through the power of the Holy Spirit will do the rest.

Prayers for Sunday and the week ahead

O God, Father, moment by moment you hold us in being; on you we depend, O God, eternal Son, friend and brother beside us, in you we trust. O God, Holy Spirit, life and love within us, from you we live. O God beyond us, God beside us, God within us; Father Son and Holy Spirit three persons in one God, you are ever to be worshipped and adored. Amen Source unknown

Jesus our savior, we thank you for incorporating us into your body the Church that we may work together as organs and limbs to do your will. Give us that organic unity without which the body will fail, that in obedience to you as the head, we may go where you need us, work for you and speak for you, and, shining in our lives, the world may see you love in action. Amen

Michael Council inspired by St Teresa of Avila

To yo, O Son of God, Kord Jesus Christ, we pray, as you pray to the eternal Father: make us one in Him. Lighten our personal distress and that of our society. Receive us into the fellowship of those who believe. Turn our hearts, O Christ, to everlasting truth ad healing harmony. Amen
Philip Melancthon 1497 - 1560

We are no longer strangers and sojourners, but fellow citizens with the saints and members of the household of God. Christ Jesus is the cornerstone and in Him we have our security, our foundation and our life. Amen From Eph 2 v 19 - 20

The God of all grace who called you to His eternal glory in Christ Jesus, establish, strengthen and settle you in the faith; and the blessing of God Almighty, the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit be among you and remain with you always. Amen
